THE WILLIAM S. RICHARDSON
SCHOOL OF LAW

University of Hawai'i
at Mānoa

Mission Statement

The William S. Richardson School of Law is dedicated to providing excellence in legal education and scholarship and to promoting justice, ethical responsibility and public service. We place special emphasis on fields of law of particular importance to Hawai'i and the Pacific region, such as environmental law, native Hawaiian rights, ocean law, and Pacific and Asian legal studies.

—Adopted by the faculty in Spring 1997

A Message from the Dean

In the Fall of 1973, fifty-three nervous first-year law students were greeted by an equally nervous faculty of six professors at the opening of the University of Hawai'i School of Law. Today, the law school, now known as the William S. Richardson School of Law, boasts over 1600 alumni scattered throughout thirty-one states and fifteen countries and a distinguished faculty of eighteen, many of whom have earned national and international recognition for their legal expertise, research and scholarship.

With a steady population of approximately 240 students, the school is still one of the smallest among the 183 ABA-accredited law schools. But its quality is seen in the school's students and graduates, as demonstrated by their success in national law school championships, their high bar passage rate and the respect they have earned from their colleagues in the Hawai'i Bar.

Our success is not measured solely by the achievements of our students and graduates. Equally important is the opportunity afforded to Hawai'i's sons and daughters of an affordable, high-quality legal education. Further, our dedication to serving the needs of our community has literally changed the gender and ethnicity of the Hawai'i Bar. We are the most ethnically diverse law school in the country and we are proud that our students mirror the rich ethnic diversity that makes our State so unique.

With the support of the State and our many private benefactors, we are enriching our Juris Doctor curriculum and reaching out to the world beyond Hawai'i's shores. Our influence is increasingly felt in the Pacific Basin through our Pacific-Asian law courses and activities and is evidenced by the number of applicants we receive from the Mainland seeking the curriculum we offer here. It is also evidenced by the relationships we have formed with law faculties in Japan, China, Australia, Hong Kong, the Philippines, and Korea. Our long-term goal is to establish lasting ties with scholars, legal communities and governments throughout Asia and the Pacific as well as strengthen the relationships we enjoy with legal communities on the Mainland.

I welcome your interest as a prospective applicant to this very special School of Law and I encourage you to examine the information contained in this catalog for a fuller description of our offerings. If admitted, you will be joining a talented group of men and women dedicated to legal scholarship, to community service, and to the enhancement of the school's national and international reputation.

Aloha,

DEAN LAWRENCE C. FOSTER

General Information

"The Richardson School of Law is a professional beacon on the University of Hawai'i campus, focusing the energies of the legal calling on the best talents of Hawai'i and the Pacific."

"The school has gone from achievement to triumph during its short history and stands as an institution worthy of the praise of the profession which it serves. Its entry into the Association of American Law Schools is a recognition richly deserved, earned through diligence, scholarship and high standards."

[Former Hawai'i Governor John Waihe'e (UH Law '76), January 1989, on the occasion of the William S. Richardson School of Law's membership in the Association of American Law Schools.]

THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI'I

The University of Hawai'i was founded as a land-grant college in 1907 and designated a university in 1920. Its largest campus, which includes the School of Law, is located in Mānoa Valley near central Honolulu on the island of O'ahu. The university also maintains research facilities—particularly for agriculture, upper-space physics and astronomy, geophysics, oceanography and marine biology—on several islands of the State: O'ahu, Hawai'i, Kaua'i, Maui and Moloka'i. A system of two-year community colleges supplements university instruction. A special feature of the Mānoa campus is the East-West Center, an international institution established by the United States Congress to bring together men and women from Asia, the Pacific area and the United States in a variety of cooperative programs of study, professional development and research.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

Formal study on the idea of establishing a law school for the State of Hawai'i began in 1968. Five years later the University of Hawai'i William S. Richardson School of Law admitted its first class.

Fifty-three students comprised that first entering class in 1973 and they were greeted by a faculty of six members. One of those students was a young man named John Waihe'e, who in 1986 was elected Governor of the State of Hawai'i and served until 1994.

Subsequent and larger classes were admitted as the inaugural class moved through to its graduation in May 1976. The faculty, the limited physical facilities and the library grew in each successive year as the legislature made provisions for an augmented student body with enhanced resources.

Provisional accreditation was granted by the American Bar Association (ABA) in the spring of 1974 with full accreditation earned in August 1982. The culmination of the early years' efforts came with the opening of the school's new facilities in 1983.

Today, the School of Law seats approximately eighty students in each entering class. Total student enrollment is approximately 240 and permanent faculty now numbers eighteen.

Special mention is due former Chief Justice of the Hawai'i State Supreme Court William S. Richardson. His patient counsel, steady effort and unwavering commitment to the establishment and development of a high quality law school buttressed all other efforts and served as an example for those who played a role in its history. In recognition of his contribution, the Board of Regents of the University of Hawai'i in 1983 named the school the William S. Richardson School of Law. Today the former Chief Justice continues to play an active role in community affairs and remains a key supporter of the law school's mission and objectives.

ACCREDITATION OF THE SCHOOL OF LAW

The accreditation process of the American Bar Association is designed to ensure that approved law schools have adequate facilities and adhere to sound educational policies. The William S. Richardson School of Law has been fully approved by the American Bar Association. This approval enables its graduates to present a Juris Doctor degree acceptable to the bar examiners of every state.

In 1989, the School of Law was admitted to full membership in the Association of American Law Schools (AALS).

GOVERNANCE OF THE SCHOOL OF LAW

Policies, regulations and procedures for the governance of the School of Law are established and administered by the deans and faculty in consulta-

ADMISSION TO PRACTICE LAW

Successful completion of law study at an American Bar Association-approved law school does not assure admission to the bar of the various states. Among other things, most states require applicants to take and pass a written bar examination and to meet certain character requirements. Other requirements, as well as the examinations themselves, differ considerably from state to state. For example, many states require registration as a candidate for admission to the bar shortly after the commencement of law study and some states have specific law school course and curriculum requirements.

Students, especially foreign students, intending to seek admission to any state bar should fully inform themselves of the admission requirements of those states they are interested in prior to matriculation in the School of Law.

In Hawai'i, admission to practice law is regulated by the Supreme Court of the State of Hawai'i. All inquiries regarding Hawai'i bar admission should be made directly to the Chief Clerk, Supreme Court of Hawai'i, 417 S. King St. Room 103, Honolulu, Hawai'i, 96813, tel. (808) 539-4919, fax (808) 539-4978.

OBJECTIVES AND METHODS

The purpose of the Juris Doctor program is to provide degree candidates with the opportunity to equip themselves for active and effective participation, as professionals, in legal counseling, advocacy and decision-making—whether the context be courtroom or legislative hearing, attorney’s office or corporate board room, state agency or federal commission, community center or international conference table. Students are encouraged to study law and legal institutions as integral parts of larger social, political-economic, and ecological systems.

Techniques of instruction include the traditional “Socratic method” (whereby an instructor rigorously questions individual students in a large group setting), lectures, the problem method, seminars, informal small group discussions, individually supervised field and library research projects, and videotaping and critique of student performance. “Clinical” components, in the form of real or simulated lawyers’ tasks, are an essential part of the program. Small-group work, especially in the first year, is organized around hypothetical client problems. Second- and third-year small-group seminars and clinical workshops permit students to elect work in areas of their preference.

The School of Law is committed to the view that learning is an enterprise in which members of the faculty should function as facilitating participants as well as sources of knowledge. Accordingly, students are expected to develop their own legal skills and abilities and to clarify their values. Successful performance of those tasks depends on the inclination and ability to learn continuously and on one’s own. Therefore, a foremost concern of the school is to provide assistance in “learning how to learn.”

FIRST-YEAR CURRICULUM

The purposes of the first-year curriculum are to:

- 1. introduce students to the experience of performing lawyers’ work—its various contexts, objectives, methods, and difficulties;
- 2. develop minimal competence in the analysis of legal problems, in certain forms of oral and written communication, in dealing with people, and in recognizing questions of professional ethics;
- 3. instill the habit of approaching legal problems with full reference to the context in which they arise;
- 4. help students begin to appreciate the relevance and importance of other disciplines;
- 5. develop a student’s working knowledge of the verbal content, underlying policies, and opera-

- tional meaning of several important areas of law; and,
- 6. help students understand the legal profession, its problems, its needs, and its future direction.

The core of the first-semester curriculum is the Legal Method Seminar. It engages students from the outset in the utilization of their knowledge, skills and perceptive powers in the service of simulated clients. Thus, the subject matter of the seminar is the acquisition of lawyers’ skills and its pedagogical method is learning by doing. In addition to its separate education functions, the seminar provides an experiential supplement to course work; seminar problems are drawn from subject-matter areas treated by first-semester courses and are prepared in cooperation with the teachers of those courses. Course work, in turn, increases the knowledge base available to students for use in handling seminar problems.

The entire first-year curriculum consists of required courses and seminars. In the first year, every student must take the following courses:

FALL SEMESTER OF THE FIRST YEAR
	Credit Hours
Civil Procedure I (Law 516)	3
Contracts I (Law 509)	3
Criminal Justice (Law 513)	4
Torts I (Law 522).....	2
Legal Research (Law 506)	1
Legal Method Seminar (Law 504)	3
TOTAL:	16

SPRING SEMESTER OF THE FIRST YEAR
	Credit Hours
Appellate Advocacy I (Law 505)	2
Civil Procedure II (Law 517)	3
Contracts II (Law 510).....	3
Real Property Law I (Law 518)	4
Torts II (Law 523)	3
TOTAL:	15

SECOND-YEAR CURRICULUM

The purposes of the second-year curriculum are to:

- 1. expose students to a wide range of important legal subjects and problems not treated in the first year and to clarify the fundamental issues, policies and arguments involved in such subjects and problems;
- 2. significantly increase students’ competence to perform legal research and legal writing, using theories and data from other relevant fields of knowledge as well as more conventional legal materials; and,

- 3. strengthen knowledge, methodology and skills acquired during the first year.
- All second-year students are required to take Constitutional Law I in the Fall semester. In addition, each student is assigned by lottery to one of the six Second-Year Seminar (Law 530) sections offered in the Spring semester. Although offerings vary each year, recent Seminar sections have included Family Law, Native Hawaiian Rights, Property, Labor Law, Torts, Antitrust, Intellectual Property, Environmental Law, and International Law.

THIRD-YEAR CURRICULUM

- The purposes of the third-year curriculum are to provide:
- 1. advanced-level study of legal problems or doctrinal areas, with opportunities to elect courses of special interest to students; and,
 - 2. opportunities for intensive supervised experience in the performance of complex lawyers’ tasks, so as to prepare students insofar as possible for the problems they will face as lawyers in a rapidly changing, interdependent world.
- The third-year curriculum is generally elective.

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS

In either their second or third year, all students must take the following:

	Credit Hours
Professional Responsibility (Law 511)	2
At least two credits from any of the following seminars, courses or activities:
Moot Court Team (Law 536)	(V)
Negotiation & Alternative Dispute Resolution (Law 508).....	2
Trial Practice (Law 563)	2
Pretrial Litigation (Law 564)	2
Estate Planning Workshop (Law 590G)	4
Prosecution Clinic (Law 590B)	4
Defense Clinic (Law 590C)	3
Family Law Clinic (Law 590J)	3
Legal Aid Clinic (Law 590H)	3
Mediation Clinic (Law 590M)	2
Native Hawaiian Rights Clinic (Law 590I)	3

In addition to these courses, students must complete 60 hours of pro bono (volunteer) work in the law school’s pro bono program.

ELECTIVES

The curriculum offers a rich variety of courses and students are urged to take advantage of this diversity by electing courses and seminars that provide perspective to legal studies, appeal to special interest, and are central to the practice of law and those which will appear on the bar examination. In electing courses, students should carefully consider possible prerequisites or recommendations as set forth in the course of study for the second and third years. Students are encouraged to seek guidance from the associate dean and/or members of the faculty.

COURSE LOAD

All students must enroll full-time (at least 12 credits) during the three-year program. A normal semester course load for the second and third years is 14 to 16 credit hours. Students who wish to earn more than 17 or fewer than 12 credit hours per semester must first obtain the written approval of the associate dean.

GRADING AND EXAMINATIONS

With the exception of the first semester and a few instances where "Credit/No Credit" is permitted, grades are assigned by the faculty to all students for academic work carried for credit. The recommended curve for classes with more than 20 students is:

	Grade Points	Range
A – Excellent	4	5–20%
B – Good	3	25–50%
C – Satisfactory	2	30–70%
D – Low Pass	1	0–10%
F – No Pass	0	0–10%
I – Incomplete
CR – Credit
NC – No Credit

A grade of "C" indicates competence in the subject matter.

Although students receive advisory letter grades during the first semester of the first year, the official transcript will reflect grading on a Credit/No Credit basis. Advisory grades for work done in the first semester of the first year will not under any circumstances be disclosed by the School of Law to anyone other than the student involved and employees of the School of Law acting in an official capacity.

Transcripts of grades received for work done after the first semester of the first year may be disclosed to persons other than employees of the university only with the written consent of the student (or former student) involved.

Examinations in courses (as distinguished from seminars and workshops) are graded anonymously. Students are issued an exam identification number each semester.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Subject to rules and regulations of the University of Hawai'i, the Juris Doctor degree will be awarded upon completion of the following requirements:

1. full-time residence in the School of Law for at least six academic (fall and spring) semesters. (Pre-Admission Program semesters do not count toward required residency). Two summer sessions during which a student received at least six credits each summer may be combined to equal one semester of residency. Full-time residence shall mean registration for a minimum of 12 credit hours and successful completion of a minimum of nine credit hours of study per semester and for which a grade other than "I" (Incomplete), "W" (Withdraw), "F," or "No Credit" is received. Residence includes regular and punctual attendance at scheduled class meetings. This requirement is based on the premise that the instructional program can only

- realize its full potential with active participation by all members of the School of Law community and is consonant with ABA standards;
2. eighty-nine semester credit hours earned (excluding grades of "F," "No Credit," "I" or "W"). A grade of "D" or better must be earned in all required courses, seminars, practicums, and workshops;
 3. a cumulative grade point average of 2.00 or better in all work taken after the first semester of the first year;
 4. completion of all graduation requirements within five years of matriculation into the School of Law;
 5. satisfactory completion of at least two credits from any of the clinical courses listed on page 7;
 6. satisfactory completion of the first-year curriculum, Constitutional Law, Second Year Seminar, and Professional Responsibility; and,
 7. completion of the pro bono requirement.

Subject to limitations imposed by accrediting institutions or the University of Hawai'i, the faculty may permit exceptions to certain of the above requirements in individual cases for reason of illness or family emergency.

Degree-seeking students must give careful attention to graduation requirements. Although students may receive counsel from the School of Law administration and faculty, they are personally and directly responsible for meeting their graduation requirements. These requirements are set forth in further detail in the Academic Regulations of the School of Law which every law student should study carefully.

SPECIAL PROJECTS

Special Projects include externships, directed study, graduate courses taken outside the School of Law with prior permission, Law Review, Moot Court Team, and Moot Court Board. No more than a combined total of 12 credits (17 for dual degree, Pacific/Asia externships or certificate students) of Special Projects may be credited towards the requirements for the JD degree.

Externships

Two-credit externships are available in four sectors of the legal community in Hawai'i: (1) judicial, (2) public agency, (3) state legislature, and (4) private law firm. In addition, full-semester resident externships are available in Asia, including Japan and Hong Kong, and various Pacific Island locations, including the Federated States of Micronesia, Palau, and Guam.

Directed Study

Each member of the full-time faculty may supervise up to three students each semester working on Directed Study (Law 576V) and give either letter grades for these projects or award Credit/No Credit.

Graduate Courses

Graduate courses or seminars offered outside the School of Law by the University of Hawai'i (or in rare cases by other colleges and universities) are also part of Special Projects. A student may have up to three credits of such outside work, taken after the first year of law school, credited toward his or her JD degree. Approval for this credit must be secured from the associate dean prior to registering for such graduate courses. The graduate course must be at the 600 level or above. It must be useful or relevant to the student's legal education or legal career and its content must be of a nature to justify its substitution for a course offered in the School of Law.

Dual Degree and Certificate Programs

Law students may integrate their law school work with graduate work in other schools and colleges of the University of Hawai'i and receive both the Juris Doctor and a graduate degree or certificate. In planning such programs, students may reduce the total requirements for both programs by receiving law school credit (up to ten credit hours) for approved graduate level courses taken after matriculation into the School of Law and by arranging with the graduate program to receive graduate credit for law school courses. These ten credits count as part of the Special Projects credit limit of 17 for dual degree, Pacific/Asia externships or certificate students.

To date, dual degree programs leading to a JD and a master of business administration, a master of urban planning, a master of public health, a master of arts in Asian studies or political science, a master of social work, a master of library and information studies, and a PhD in psychology have been arranged with the respective schools and colleges at the University of Hawai'i. Currently approved graduate certificate programs include Asian Studies, Ocean Policy, Gerontology and Resource Management. All dual degree or certificate programs must have the prior written approval of the associate dean of the School of Law.

Students interested in a dual degree or certificate program must apply separately and be admitted to both the School of Law and the graduate program. Admission to one program does not guarantee admission to the other.

The first year in the School of Law is a fully prescribed, full-time program. Students who desire to enroll in a dual degree or certificate program may not take any courses outside the School of Law during the first academic year of the JD program.

SUMMER STUDY

After completion of the first year courses, a student may take courses for credit at any ABA-accredited law school during summers. Students planning to enroll in summer law programs must have the prior written approval of the associate dean. Credit for approved summer law courses taken outside of the School of Law may be counted toward the number of credits required for graduation, but will not be computed as a part of the student's grade point average.

The School of Law does not currently offer a summer program. However, in recent years, students have enrolled in other ABA-approved summer programs in Europe, Mexico, Japan, China, Hong Kong, Korea, and Singapore.

CLINICAL PROGRAMS

Clinical courses place students in the role of the professional. Students can elect an array of courses which give them the opportunity to directly experience the practice of law.

In the externship courses, students work in judges' chambers, the legislature, public agencies, and in private practice.

In some clinical classes, such as Pretrial Litigation, Negotiation, and Trial Practice, students study and simulate lawyering skills. After careful instruction by both full-time faculty and adjunct professors, who include some of the finest lawyers and judges in Hawai'i, students exercise the lawyering skills at the school and then are critiqued. Many of the performances are videotaped in the school's Moot Courtroom and later reviewed in a special video-review room in the Library.

The Hawai'i Supreme Court has authorized the student practice of law for University of Hawai'i law students pursuant to Hawai'i Supreme Court Rule 7. In the Prosecution and Defense clinics, students actually try cases in Hawai'i's courts. The pretrial and trial skills learned in the clinics are directly related to the practice of both civil and criminal law.

PRO BONO PROGRAM

In 1992, at the suggestion of the students, the faculty approved a pro bono (public service) graduation requirement. The requirement serves two purposes: it introduces the concept of pro bono service and it allows law students to address unmet legal needs in the community. To fulfill this requirement, students must volunteer for at least sixty hours of law-related work in one or more agencies or projects approved by the law school pro bono advisor.

Special Programs

CERTIFICATE IN ENVIRONMENTAL LAW

In 1992, the law school established a Certificate in Environmental Law as a part of the JD curriculum. Environmental Law is one of the two areas of emphasis at the law school, particularly as it relates to Hawai'i's native species and terrestrial ecosystems, fresh and ocean water resources, pollution problems, cultural context and land use issues.

The certificate program recognizes the increased student interest in this area, the expertise of a substantial number of our faculty and growing opportunities in the field. Students interested in the certificate might also want to consider pursuing a Graduate Ocean Policy Certificate which is offered at the University of Hawai'i and is part of our dual degree program.

The certificate is available only to University of Hawai'i law students. In order to qualify for a certificate, a student must:

1. meet the general JD graduation requirements;
2. successfully complete
 - Administrative Law (Law 561)
 - Environmental Law (Law 582);
3. successfully complete a minimum of 8 credits from the following:
 - Domestic Ocean and Coastal Law (Law 592) *
 - Environmental Compliance and Regulated Industries (Law 512) *
 - Environmental Litigation Seminar (Law 529) *
 - Hazardous Waste Law (Law 540) *
 - International Environmental Law (Law 528) *
 - International Ocean Law (Law 593) *

- Land Use Management and Control (Law 580)
- Legal Aspects of Water Resources Control (Law 588) *
- Topics in Environmental Law (Law 527) *
- Wildlife and Natural Resources Law (Law 503) *;

4. successfully complete one of the following:
 - Constitutional Law II (Law 534)
 - Native Hawaiian Rights (Law 581)
 - Negotiation & Alternative Dispute Resolution (Law 508)
 - Remedies (Law 539)
 - Federal Courts (Law 571);
5. maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or better in the above Certificate courses (which may not be taken on a credit/no credit basis);
6. successfully complete a two credit-hour approved externship (e.g., Earth-justice Legal Defense Fund, Environmental Division of the State Attorney General's Office);

or,

a two credit-hour directed study which produces a paper on some aspect of environmental or natural resources law under the supervision of one of the environmental law faculty or Second-Year Seminar on an approved environmental topic;

or,

be a member of the Environmental Law Moot Court Competition Team.

PACIFIC-ASIAN LEGAL STUDIES

Recognizing the enormous importance of the Pacific Rim to Hawai'i and the U.S., the School of Law is strongly committed to its program in Pacific-Asian Legal Studies (PALS). Many law faculty members specialize or have strong research interests in Asian or Pacific law, and the law school now offers a broad range of courses relating to Asian and Pacific law on a regular basis, supplemented by short-term and specialized courses taught by visitors. Recent courses include Law and Society in China, Chinese Business Law, Asian Comparative Labor Law, Korean Law, Japanese Law and Pacific Islands Legal Systems. For more specialized work, students may also arrange directed reading courses with individual faculty members.

In 1996, the law school awarded its first PALS certificates. The PALS certificate program, which allows participating students to earn a certificate through the completion of courses from a list of international and Pacific-Asian law electives approved by the PALS faculty. Approximately fifteen elective credits from this list will satisfy the certificate requirements. Students may choose an Asian or Pacific topic for their Second-Year Seminar papers, which may also be used to satisfy the writing component for the certificate.

The School of Law encourages its students to pursue study and work in Asia and the Pacific. Also available are Externship opportunities for which PALS certificate credit may be given. Within the last few years, law school students have studied in China, India, Singapore, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Thailand and Japan. Students have also completed externships in Pacific Island jurisdictions, including the Federated States of Micronesia, Palau, Samoa and Guam.

The PALS program is supported by the University of Hawai'i's excellent area centers for Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Southeast Asian and Hawaiian studies. Law students may enroll in graduate courses in these areas and receive up to three credits toward the JD degree. If admitted to both schools, students may also pursue a four-year dual degree program and be awarded a master of arts in Asian Studies as well as the JD degree.

The law school engages in active faculty exchange programs with the Faculties of Law at Hiroshima University and Meijo University in Japan. The University has entered into exchange agreements with Peking University in Beijing, the University of the Philippines and the Chinese University of Hong Kong, and law students are eligible to participate in the exchanges provided under those agreements. The law school also maintains a broad network of less formal contacts throughout Asia and the Pacific and enjoys a steady stream of international visitors, including judges, law professors and attorneys.

Law student activity is coordinated by the Pacific-Asian Legal Studies Organization (PALSO) and the Pacific Islands Legal Studies Association (PILSA). During the last year, both student groups have sponsored public forums, lunch talks and informal gatherings, and their members edited a selection of Pacific-Asian student papers for publication by the law school. Law students are also encouraged to participate in the University's area studies activities.

PACIFIC-ASIAN LEGAL STUDIES CERTIFICATE

In order to earn a PALS certificate, students must be University of Hawai'i law students and must:

1. meet the general JD graduation requirements;
2. successfully complete International Law (Law 585);
3. successfully complete one of the following:
 - Asian Comparative Law (Law 587)
 - International Business Transactions (Law 579)
 - International Protection of Human Rights (Law 572)
 - Pacific Islands Legal Systems (Law 594);
4. successfully complete a minimum of eight credits from the following:
 - Advanced Legal Studies (subject to approval) (Law 520)

- Asian Comparative Labor Law (Law 556)
- Chinese Business Law (Law 578)
- Domestic Ocean & Coastal Law (Law 592)
- International Environmental Law (Law 528)
- International Ocean Law (Law 593)
- Law and Society in China (Law 586)
- Law and Society in Japan (Law 514)
- Native Hawaiian Rights (Law 581)
- Native Hawaiian Rights Clinic (Law 590I)
- Pacific/Asia Externship (Law 555)
- Topics in International Legal Studies—China (Law 575C)
- Topics in International Legal Studies—Japan (Law 575J)
- Topics in International Legal Studies—Korea (Law 575K)
- Topics in International Legal Studies—Pacific (Law 575P)
- Topics in International Legal Studies—Southeast Asia (Law 575S)
- U.S.–Japan Business Transactions (Law 577);

(A maximum of one course in (3) that is not applied to the requirements under (3) may be applied to the eight credits required under (4).)

(Completion of the one-semester, 12 credit/hour Pacific/Asia Externship satisfies six of these credits.)

5. maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or better in the above Certificate courses (which may not be taken on a credit/no credit basis);
6. successfully complete a written Pacific-Asian article in the University of Hawai'i Law Review;

or,

a two credit-hour directed study which produces a paper on some aspect of Pacific-Asian Legal Studies under the supervision of one of the faculty;

or,

a Second-Year Seminar paper on an approved Pacific-Asian topic;

or,

serve as a team member of the Jessup International Moot Court Competition Team.

With prior approval, directed study courses, externships and graduate courses outside the Law School and other ABA approved schools, including study abroad, may be approved by the PALS committee to substitute for certificate requirements. All course offerings are subject to change; requirements may be modified by the certificates committee.

ELDER LAW PROGRAM

The University of Hawai'i Elder Law Program (UHELP) consists of two interrelated components:

The Elder Law course is co-sponsored by the University of Hawai'i Center on Aging and provides a basic foundation for legal practice with the elderly.

The Elder Law Unit is responsible for direct delivery of legal services to elderly who are socially and economically needy. It has a full-time attorney and a paralegal and operates throughout the calendar year as a law office. The Elder Law Unit is an important source of cases assigned to the students in the Legal Aid Clinic.

UHELP's The Elder Law Hawai'i Handbook provides legal information to older adults on a wide range of topics.

Funding for UHELP is provided by the School of Law, Title III of the Older Americans Act, The Elderly Affairs Division of the City and County of Honolulu, and the Hawai'i Justice Foundation.

JURISTS-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

Begun in 1987, this program brings distinguished national jurists to the School of Law to meet with students, faculty, the judiciary, and the bar in a special educational setting. These jurists present seminars, teach classes, and discuss timely judicial matters.

Past participants have included several Justices from the United States Supreme Court including The Honorable Ruth Bader Ginsburg, The Honorable Anthony M. Kennedy, The Honorable John Paul Stevens and The Honorable Byron R. White. Each time the Justices were accompanied by The Honorable Myron H. Bright, Senior Circuit Court Judge with the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, who was the originator of this program. Associate Justice Antonin Scalia is scheduled to visit in Spring 2000.

The Jurists-in-Residence Program is funded by DFS Hawai'i.

EMERITUS PROFESSORS

Addison M. Bowman
Professor of Law, Emeritus

AB, Dartmouth College, 1957;
LLB, Dickinson School of Law, 1963;
LLM, Georgetown University, 1964.

Formerly Professor of Law on the faculty of the Georgetown University Law Center, Professor Bowman joined this law faculty in 1975. He served as reporter to the Judicial Council and Interim Committees that produced the Hawai'i Rules of Evidence, and authored the Commentaries that appear in Hawai'i Revised Statutes ch. 626 (Special Pamphlet 1980). He also authored the Hawai'i Criminal Benchbook (1982) and Hawai'i Rules of Evidence Manual (1990). He received Mānoa's prestigious Robert W. Clopton Award for Distinguished Community Service in 1980 and the School of Law's Outstanding Professor of Law Award in 1983. Professor Bowman serves as a consultant to the Judiciary of Hawai'i and to the Supreme Court of the Federated States of Micronesia and conducts judicial education and training programs here and in Micronesia. He is a charter member and bencher of Honolulu's American Inn of Court IV.

Richard S. Miller
Professor of Law, Emeritus

BS, Boston University, 1951; JD, magna cum laude, Boston University, 1956;
LLM, Yale University, 1959.

Professor Miller arrived in Hawai'i in 1973 to help establish the new law school at the University of Hawai'i. His first law degree is from Boston University, where he was editor-in-chief of the Law Review. After practicing law in Boston he earned a Master of Laws degree from the Yale Law School. He was a law professor from 1959 to 1996, having taught at Wayne State University and Ohio State University before coming to Hawai'i. His areas of principal interest are torts and conflict of laws. He served the law school as Associate Dean (1976-77) and Dean (1981-84). In 1985, Professor Miller was instrumental in securing a USIA Grant for exchange of faculty between the Hiroshima University School of Law and the University of Hawai'i's law school. He was a visiting professor at Hiroshima University during fall 1986 and at the Victoria University of Wellington (New Zealand) during spring 1987. Professor Miller is a member of the American Law Institute. He is also a board member of the Drug Policy Forum of Hawai'i, Vice-Chair of the Honolulu Community-Media Council, and a legal consultant for the Hawai'i Coalition for Health. His work of the Coalition earned him the 1999 Volunteer of the Year Award from the Hawai'i Medical Association Alliance.

THE BENJAMIN A. KUDO CHAIR OF LAW

In 1994, the University of Hawai'i received a gift of $1.5 million to support a Chair of Law. The anonymous donor designated that the Chair be used to support a scholar in land use, environmental or administrative law. At the donor's request, the Chair was established as a tribute to Benjamin A. Kudo, a distinguished and well-respected member of Hawai'i's legal community. Mr. Kudo currently practices as a partner with a major Honolulu law firm in the areas of land use, real estate development, natural resources and administrative law. In addition, Mr. Kudo is an adjunct professor of real property with the School of Law.

In 1995, the University of Hawai'i Board of Regents approved the appointment of David L. Callies, UH professor of law, as the first holder of the Benjamin A. Kudo Chair of Law.

WALLACE S. FUJIYAMA DISTINGUISHED VISITING PROFESSOR OF LAW

Thanks to the generosity of Duty Free Shoppers, Ltd., and a legion of friends, an endowment fund has been established to honor Mr. Fujiyama, a distinguished Honolulu attorney and former University of Hawai'i Regent. The endowment enables the School of Law to bring the nation's most distinguished legal scholars to the school for one or more semesters every other academic year as the Wallace S. Fujiyama Distinguished Visiting Professor of Law.

THE GEORGE M. JOHNSON VISITING PROFESSORSHIP

Established through a bequest from the estate of Dr. Johnson's widow, Evelyn, this visiting professorship honors George M. Johnson, distinguished legal scholar, teacher and civil rights advocate. Dr. Johnson's career highlights include: serving as Dean of Howard University Law School; helping to establish the University of Nigeria; service as a member of the US Civil Rights Commission; helping to plan the legal briefs for the 1954 Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka desegregation case. At the University of Hawai'i Law School, he was the first Director of the Pre-Admission Program (1974), a program which continues today to address the needs of groups underrepresented in the Hawai'i Bar.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS

Carol Mon Lee

Laurie Tochiki returns to the law school as Assistant Dean in Fall 1999. She served as Assistant Professor and Adjunct Professor from 1994 to 1999. Dean Tochiki was the coordinator and one of the founders of the Kids First program at the Family Court of the First Circuit, and coordinator and founder of the Ohana Conferencing program of the Department of Human Services. She practiced for twelve years in the area of family law with eight years as a solo practitioner in Waipahu. Dean Tochiki serves on the board of Hawai'i Lawyers Care and on the O'ahu Citizen Review Panel for Child Welfare. She is a co-recipient of the Hawai'i State Bar Association

"Golden Gavel" award, recipient of the Hawai'i Lawyers Care Niu Award and the Hawai'i Women Lawyers Community Service Award.

Patricia Abracia
Director of Career Services and Assistant Director of Student Services

BA, Loyola Marymount University, 1986.

Ms. Abracia joined the School of Law in 1998, after nearly three years as the Associate Director for Counseling at the University of Southern California Law School in Los Angeles. She received her B.A. in Psychology from Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles in 1986. Additionally, Ms. Abracia worked for two years as Job Placement Assistant at Loyola Marymount University, and six years at Loyola Law School, Los Angeles as the Public Interest Law Advisor/Special Projects Coordinator. She previously served as a Grants Administrator and Field Representative for the City of Los Angeles. Ms. Abracia is a current member of the National Association for Law Placement and the Law School Admissions Council.

Eileen Broms
Director of Development

Before joining the law school in 1993, Ms. Broms worked for six years as an office administrator and executive secretary in the Southern California homebuilding industry and for ten years as a legal assistant with prominent law firms in San Diego, Santa Barbara, and Los Angeles, California. She received her paralegal certificate from the University of San Diego in 1983. Ms. Broms became interested in pursuing a career in development while volunteering for over seven years with the Pediatric Cancer Research Foundation of Orange County. She served on the board of directors of the Foundation in 1991-92 and was employed as the assistant to the executive director just prior to relocating to Hawai'i.

Robert N. Daguio
Administrative Officer

BBA, University of Hawai'i, 1976.

Prior to joining the School of Law in 1987, Mr. Daguio served as Fiscal Officer for the University of Hawai'i's College of Education, where he provided administrative support to the College's thirteen instructional, academic support, and student services units, as well as approximately twenty-five research and training projects. From 1972 to 1975 he served as a Research Associate in the Educational Research and Development Center.

Career Services

The School of Law's career services efforts seek to inform law students and graduates of the career opportunities open to persons with a legal education and to assist private and public interest law firms, government agencies, industrial concerns, and other prospective employers in their efforts to identify and interview students and graduates. Emphasis is placed on employers located in Hawai'i, since approximately 80-85% of each graduating class elects to stay in the state. Although legal job markets across the country have faced serious challenges under the strains of recession, the Hawai'i job market has remained fairly hospitable to graduates of this law school.

Annual placement surveys of recent graduates indicate that 90-95% of graduates remaining in the state have found legal employment within six months of graduation.

A high percentage of graduates (20%-30%) are successful in locating judicial clerkships for the first year after graduation. Salaries for clerks generally range from about $34,000 to $45,000. Recent placements have included clerkships with the Ninth Circuit, Federal District Courts, the Hawai'i State Supreme Court and the Intermediate Court of Appeals, as well as various State Circuit Courts.

Approximately 45% of each class finds employment with private law firms, especially in Honolulu, where compensation packages range widely ($30,000 to $60,000+), depending on the size of the firm. Virtually every large and medium firm in Hawai'i employs School of Law graduates and many graduates are also partners. Outside of Hawai'i, graduates have also found employment over the years with prestigious legal and non-traditional employers in San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, Chicago, Las Vegas, New York City, Washington, D.C., Texas, Guam, Hong Kong, Japan, Thailand, Cambodia and Singapore.

School of Law graduates are also attracted to public interest and government law in respectably high numbers

(15%-20%). Public and government agencies in Hawai'i generally pay new graduates in the $32,000 to $42,000 range with additional benefits.

Career services to students include: career counseling; information sessions and presentations on a variety of career options; resume-writing and interviewing skills; a fall and spring on-campus interviewing program; a job listing and referral service; a resource library; and linkage with alumni throughout the state and region.

Part-Time Employment

Career Services also maintains listings of part-time employment opportunities available to second- and third-year law students during the academic year. Most of these opportunities are for law clerks with Honolulu firms of all sizes.

The School of Law's curriculum and schedule have been planned to engage law students in the study of law on a full-time basis. A full-time student is one who devotes substantially all of his or her working hours to the study of law. Pre-Admission and first-year students are strongly discouraged from taking employment.

Outside employment or other activities may seriously lower the educational value of the School of Law academic program.

Students who have strong academic records may engage in part-time employment compatible with their legal studies. In no event may this exceed 20 hours weekly. This limit is specified by the American Bar Association and will be strictly enforced through suspension, reprimand or other sanction.

Students are reminded that academic standards are not altered to take account of demands imposed by outside employment.

William S. Richardson School of Law students have a long-standing tradition of excellence in national and international competitions. 1999 was an exceptional year, with teams from the School winning two national and two regional championships. This consistently outstanding performance is attributed to the overall rigor of the academic program, the expertise of the faculty and alumni coaches and above all, to the abilities, professionalism and dedication of the students. Discussed below are a few of the achievements and honors earned by School of Law students.

PHILIP C. JESSUP INTERNATIONAL LAW MOOT COURT COMPETITION

The 1999 School of Law team again excelled in this competition. For the fifth time in seven years, the team captured the regional title, defeating teams from schools such as USC, Hastings and Pepperdine. The team also received the award for Best Memorial in the competition held this year at Santa Clara Law School.

Members of the 1999 team were third-year students Mei-Fei Kuo, George Parrott and Duane Seabolt, and second-year students Quinn Plant and Jason Chen Zhao. As in past years, David McCauley ('93) served as alumni coach and Professor Jon Van Dyke served as faculty advisor for the team. On top of team honors, individual members excelled in the Regional Competition. Parrott was recognized as third-best oralist overall, and Kuo was named best oralist in the final round. In capturing the regional title this year, the team extended the law school's incredible record in the Jessup competition. From 1992-93 through 1995-96, School of Law teams won four straight regional competitions, an almost unheard of feat. Several of the teams won best memorial (brief) and best oralist honors. The 1995 team went on to win first place honors for Best Memorial in International Competition earning them the Alona E. Evans Award.

The 1998 School of Law team received the Richard R. Baxter Award for the best overall memorials submitted by any team in the Jessup competition. The team finished first in both the "Best Memorial—Applicant" and "Best Memorial—Respondent" rankings, surpassing over one hundred American and seventy foreign teams. To be selected in both categories is a rare and astounding accomplishment. The team also ranked second in the world and the best of any American team for the Hardy C. Dillard Award for the best combined memorials.

In 1993, the team defeated Georgetown in the National Competition to be crowned Best Team in the Nation. In addition, the team was named Runner-Up in the World, losing in the final round to the University of Melbourne. The team also won awards for its memorials. Then team member David McCauley was selected as the Best Oralist in the entire competition that year.

CLIENT COUNSELING TEAM

The 1999 Client Counseling Team captured First Place in the Regional Competition hosted by the School of Law this year. With this win, the School has now captured the Region 9/11 Title three times in the past four years.

This year's team members include third-year students Christine Andrews, Albert Cook and Belinda Hall, and second-year students Susan Dorsey and Denise Sangster. Laurie Tochiki ('80) served as the team's coach and Professor Calvin Pang was the team's faculty advisor.

The team went on to compete in the National Competition in Ft. Lauderdale, finishing fifth in the nation, one place higher than the team's finish in 1998.

Both the 1996 and 1998 School of Law teams also captured the regional title. In 1996, the team finished out the season second in the Nation.

ENVIRONMENTAL MOOT COURT TEAM

The School of Law Environmental Moot Court Team was crowned national champions in 1999, capturing first place among a field of 68 teams. This is the first time that the School has won at this competition.

This year's team members consisted of third-year students Kaiulani Kidani and Elijah Yip, and second-year student Paul Tanaka. The team's faculty coach was Assistant Professor Denise Antolini.

On top of team honors, both Kidani and Yip won several "best oralist" awards throughout the competition.

Each year, about seventy teams from across the country compete in this national competition sponsored by Pace University School of Law in New York. Three-member teams from each school write an appellate brief and present oral argument on a different cutting-edge federal environmental law issue (such as hazardous waste, endangered species, or water pollution). The final round is argued before three federal judges.

In addition to winning the competition this year, in the past nine years of participating in this competition, the School of Law's team has made it twice to the quarterfinal round and twice to the semi-final round.

NATIVE AMERICAN MOOT COURT TEAM

In 1999, the team from the School of Law captured the National Championship, winning first and third Best Team honors at the Seventh Annual National Native American Law Students Moot Court

Competition. A field of 32 teams participated in the competition held in Oklahoma City, including teams from schools such as University of New Mexico and University of Oklahoma with nationally recognized Indian Law programs.

Members of this year's School of Law contingent included third-year students Bonita Chang, Toni Ellington, Nicole Kinilau, Raina Mead and Carrie Ann Shirota, and second-year student Kevin Teruya. Professor Williamson B.C. Chang served as the team's faculty advisor.

The team of Kinilau and Shirota captured first place, and Ellington and Mead took home third place in the overall Best Team category. The two teams also received Best Memorial honors, with Ellington and Mead earning second place, and Kinilau and Shirota placing third. Ellington was named third place Best Individual Oralist in the entire competition.

The School of Law has participated in this competition for a relatively short time, and, though the School does not have an Indian Law program, the teams have represented the School exceptionally well. In 1998, the team of Kinilau and Shirota finished second in the overall ranking, with the other School of Law team making it to the quarterfinals of the competition. In 1997, then team member Mona Bernardino ('97) was named best oralist in the entire competition.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

In 1983 the School of Law moved into its current quarters. The library building, a one-story structure utilizing berm construction to reduce energy costs and to maintain a quiet internal environment, won its architect, Robert Matsushita and Associates, a 1983 Merit Award from the American Institute of Architects, Hawai'i Society.

The adjacent two-story classroom and office building has five classrooms; six seminar rooms; offices for faculty, student organizations, administrative staff; and lounges for faculty, students, and staff—all surrounding a beautifully landscaped inner courtyard. The Moot Courtroom is well appointed with koa wood paneling.

School of Law Library

The law library strongly supports the law school curriculum and law student and faculty research. It also provides access to legal information and basic reference assistance to the university community, to members of the bar, and to citizens of the state.

The law library building is a modern, comfortable facility, large enough to accommodate collection growth through this century. It houses a study carrel for each regular law student, discussion/seminar rooms for group study, a faculty research room, and a public reference area.

The library has developed a well-rounded collection of Anglo-American primary and secondary legal resources, including a complete complement of case reporters, statutes, regulations, law reviews, treatises, monographs, and specialized loose-leaf publications. The collection is approximately 258,000 volume and microform equivalents and is supplemented by automated legal research systems that provide the latest in legal research technology to law students and faculty.

THE WILLIAM S. RICHARDSON SCHOOL OF LAW ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association was formed in 1977 as a non-profit 510(c)(7) organization incorporated under the laws of the State of Hawai'i. The Association provides a channel of communication between the School of Law and its alumni and friends to further social, professional and educational activities among those sharing a common interest in the School of Law, and encourages and provides funds for accomplishing the purposes of the Association. The Association is managed by a Board of Directors of sixteen members, including four officers and twelve non-officer directors, all of whom are graduates of the William S. Richardson School of Law.

The Alumni Association publishes a quarterly newsletter, participates in the first-year student orientation program, and sponsors a number of events throughout the year including continuing legal education seminars and annual sporting events (the Ete Bowl women's flag football, softball, and bowling) for alumni, students and faculty. Since 1985, the Association has sponsored the annual Alumni/Friends Benefit Golf Tournament which has raised significant funding for scholarships for law students dedicated to public service and for the University of Hawai'i Elder Law Program (UHELP).

The Alumni Association also assists in the School's fund-raising and development efforts. In 1996, the Association's Board of Directors helped to establish an annual reunion program to recognize twentieth anniversary graduates.

WSRSL alumni serve an important indirect role in placement, as our graduates are partners and associates in almost every law firm in the state. School of Law graduates also fill top positions in numerous state and county agencies and departments.

THE FRIENDS OF THE WILLIAM S. RICHARDSON SCHOOL OF LAW

The Board of the Friends of the William S. Richardson School of Law was created in the mid-1980s, and is composed of a group of alumni and non-alumni attorneys and business people, parents and faculty members who are committed to the future of legal education.

The mission of the Friends Board is to assist the Law School in raising private support for the Law Annual Fund to supplement the state funding the School receives for basic programs in legal education. Annual gifts from alumni and non-alumni attorneys and law firms in support of the Law Annual Fund are instrumental to the School's ability to provide funding for scholarships, student assistantships, and travel and other expenses related to national law school competitions. The Law Annual Fund also provides resources for faculty development and recruitment, visiting professors, lectureships and other activities that help to enhance our students' educational experience.

The Law School has benefited greatly from the volunteer service on the Board of the Friends by alumni and non-alumni lawyers representing the major law firms in our state.

LIAISON WITH THE HAWAII BAR

The School of Law is committed to a close and creative relationship with the members of the Hawaii Bar. Professor Randall Roth serves as the 1999 President of the Hawaii State Bar Association.

Members of the faculty serve on various bar committees and participate in continuing legal education programs. Law students are encouraged to enroll as student members of the Hawaii State Bar Association and Hawaii Women Lawyers.

GENERAL UNIVERSITY SERVICES

Center for Student Development

A staff of psychologists, psychiatrists, psychometrists, and interns provides educational, vocational, and personal counseling to students. Various aptitude, interest, and other psychological tests are used as aids in counseling. The center also administers national aptitude and achievement examinations and maintains an educational and vocational library. Services are free for enrolled students.

Food Services

Complete food service facilities, including a cafeteria, snack bar, and specially catered party and banquet facilities are available in the Campus Center. Other food service facilities are located around the Mānoa campus and offer plate lunches, sandwiches and snacks. Food vending machines throughout the campus provide 24-hour service.

Services to Disabled Students

The University of Hawai'i prohibits discrimination on the basis of handicap and assures qualified disabled students access to all programs of the university. The KOKUA Office offers assistance to students with physical impairments in such areas as registration, classroom accommodations, transcribing services, and intra-campus transportation.

Child Care Center

The University of Hawai'i at Mānoa Children's Center was established to fill a need for quality on-campus child care for faculty, students and staff. Children from two to five years old are accommodated at a facility adjacent to the College of Education. Information and application materials can be obtained by writing to The UHM Children's Center, 2320 Dole Street, Honolulu, Hawai'i 96822 or by calling 808-956-7963.

Learning Assistance Center

The learning assistance staff offers students individual assistance and group sessions in developing more effective study habits and learning skills.

International Student Office (ISO)

ISO gives general assistance to students and scholars from other countries. It assists with immigration requirements, financial problems, living arrangements and other university and community matters. The office also advises American students who seek opportunities for overseas study, service and travel.

Housing

The university has very limited housing facilities for professional students. Information may be obtained by writing to the Director of Student Housing. The Off-Campus Housing Office is available to help locate accommodations near the campus.

Student Health Services

The Student Health Services seeks to maintain and safeguard the student's health, both mental and physical, by periodic checkups and limited treatment services.

Medical care beyond the scope of the medical services provided by the University Student Health Services must be paid for by the student. Supplemental insurance coverage to provide for serious illness is essential. The ASUH Students' Accident and Sickness Medical Plan is recommended.

A Dental Hygiene Clinic is available for dental screening and cleaning at no charge to students.

Hemenway Leisure Center

Courses in ceramics, lei making, dance, aerobics, first aid, massage, kayaking, sailing, surfing, and scuba diving are available. The Center also has a reasonable rental program for athletic equipment including surfboards, bodyboards, backpacks, tents, coolers, kayaks, snorkels and masks.

Intramural Sports

The athletic complex includes a swimming pool and weight rooms. Free swim hours are available and certain classes may be audited.

Student Organizations

Advocates for Public Interest Law

Advocates for Public Interest Law (APIL) began with a gift from the 1985 graduating class. The group's purpose is to encourage public interest legal work. Through its fund-raising activities, APIL awards grants to law students to enable them to work for public interest agencies or organizations during their summer recesses. The goal of this program is to provide legal services to underrepresented groups in the community. APIL also aims to raise the consciousness of Hawai'i's legal community regarding public interest law. APIL consists of an all-student group and a board of directors that is composed of students, faculty, and members of the community.

'Ahahui O Hawai'i

The 'Ahahui O Hawai'i is an organization of Native Hawaiian students and graduates of the School of Law. The Hui helps members complete their legal education through academic assistance, scholarship awards and moral support. In particular, members orient new students to the law school experience, hold fund-raising and cultural events, sponsor legal forums, offer tours of various law offices and share study aids.

American Bar Association—Law Student Division (ABA-LSD)

The ABA-LSD is the largest national law student organization. The LSD provides its members with an opportunity to point the law in new and innovative directions through the sharing of ideas and exposure to all aspects of legal concern. From women in the law to minority recruitment, from community legal services to law-related education, student members are kept abreast of legal trends which may determine their participation as attorneys in an ever-changing society. ABA-LSD members are entitled to receive subscriptions to the ABA Journal, the Student Lawyer magazine, and other ABA publications.

American Inns of Court

The American Inns of Court is a national organization of senior judges and attorneys that promotes excellence in legal advocacy at the trial and appellate levels among young lawyers and law students ("pupils"). The organization also seeks to foster greater understanding of and appreciation for the adversary system of dispute resolution in American law. The Inns attempt to build upon the strengths of common law and the English Inns of Court, on which the American Inns are modeled. The Aloha Inn at the William S. Richardson School of Law was granted a charter in 1985 by the American Inns of Court Foundation. Student membership is by invitation of the Executive Committee.

American Trial Lawyers Association Student Chapter

ATLA works with students to teach the fundamentals of the court room: from opening and closing statements to direct and cross-examinations.

Christian Legal Society

A local chapter of this nationwide professional association founded in 1961 provides Christian law students, lawyers, and judges with a means of mutual sharing and of witnessing to the legal community. Present activities include fellowship and discussion group meetings. Other activities may include Christian service projects as determined by the members.

Client Counseling Team

The Client Counseling Team represents the law school in a national interschool competition sponsored by the American Bar Association. Team members develop expertise in interviewing and counseling clients. While cultivating the skills needed to be effective with clients, students also learn to identify preventive law and dispute resolution options, spot and address ethical issues, and deal appropriately with a client's non-legal concerns. The team is also expected to develop a working knowledge of the substantive area chosen each year for the competition.

Delta Theta Phi International Legal Fraternity

The Delta Theta Phi International Legal Fraternity is the fastest growing legal fraternity in the nation. The Prince Kūhiō Senate was established in Hawai'i in 1982 for the purpose of forming a sharing community to enhance both academic and professional life.

Membership is open on a nondiscriminatory basis to all students admitted to the School of Law. Fraternity activities include the presentation of test-taking and study seminars, initiation ceremonies and social activities. The Prince Kūhiō Senate is a registered student organization with access to University of Hawai'i student services and programs.

Environmental Law Society

The Environmental Law Society was formed in 1987 by a group of students interested in contributing to the growth of environmental law in Hawai'i. Members have the opportunity to provide legal research assistance to attorneys representing individuals and organizations concerned with protection of the environment, take direct action for the protection and enhancement of the environment (e.g., testifying to the Legislature regarding environmental bills), and participate in forums for the exchange of information and the promotion of a better understanding of environmental law and policy issues. Membership is open to all interested students, faculty and alumni of the School of Law. www2.hawaii.edu/~uhmels/

Environmental Law Moot Court Competition

A three-student team, sponsored by the School of Law, participates in the annual competition at Pace University in New York. New members of the team are chosen on the basis of brief-writing and oral argument skills, particularly performance in first-year Appellate Advocacy and the intramural Susan McKay Moot Court Competition held each Fall. The School of Law has participated in the competition since 1991. In 1999, the School of Law's team won the national championship, out of a field of 68 teams from across the country.

Hispanic Law Students Association

The Hispanic Law Students Association (HLSA) is a diverse group of individuals representing a wide range of interests and backgrounds. HLSA is dedicated to facilitating greater legal access and better legal services to the growing Hispanic population of Hawai'i. Efforts include establishing working relationships with the Hispanic community and its leaders, providing academic, career, and moral support to enrolled Hispanic students and educating members and others about Hispanic history and culture in the islands. Currently, HLSA is fielding a team for the national Hispanic Moot Court Competition, providing outreach to the pre-law organization on campus and supporting fund raisers within the Hispanic Community.

LAMBDA Law Student Association

LAMBDA is dedicated to promoting advocacy and support for law students and other persons in the local and greater community who are of diverse sexual orientation and/or sexual minorities. LAMBDA seeks to foster communication regarding issues relating to persons of diverse sexual orientation and to bring greater awareness to the law school community of these issues.

Moot Court Program

The Moot Court Program is designed to introduce students to the challenging practical aspects of appellate litigation. Participation in the program helps students to develop and refine their skills of research, analysis, writing, and advocacy.

All first-year students participate in Appellate Advocacy I, in which they write briefs from prepared case records. The students then present their cases in oral arguments before panels of Hawai'i lawyers.

National Lawyers Guild

The Guild is dedicated to the need for basic change in the structure of our political and economic system. It seeks to unite lawyers, law students, legal workers, and jailhouse lawyers of American into an organization that functions as an effective political and social force in the service of the people.

Pacific-Asian Legal Studies Organization (PALSO)

The Pacific-Asian Legal Studies Organization (PALSO) is committed to developing an understanding of Pacific-Asian legal systems. The organization sponsors a series of lectures by speakers from the local bar and academic community as well as from Pacific Rim countries and the mainland. Other extracurricular activities include a newsletter, a resource directory and support activities for the emerging Pacific-Asian Legal Studies Program at the School of Law. Plans are under way to implement other educational activities including seminars, workshops and exchange programs. Membership is open to all interested persons. www2.hawaii.edu/~uhmpalso/

Pacific Islands Legal Studies Association (PILSA)

PILSA aims to promote awareness and discussion of the legal aspects of political, social, environmental and economic problems of the island nations of the Pacific. It also seeks to affirm the Pacific's distinct geopolitical identity with its own unique perspectives. Toward this end, PILSA sponsors public forums and other activities, assists with research and publications, and presents testimony where appropriate on topics dealing with Pacific Islands issues. PILSA also aims to assist in the recruitment, admission and retention of students of Pacific Islands descent. To promote the expansion of Pacific Islands-related course offerings, PILSA offers suggestions to the faculty and administration about useful courses and assists in soliciting additional funding for such purposes.

Phi Delta Phi International Legal Fraternity, Richardson Inn

Phi Delta Phi is the largest and oldest national legal fraternity. A local inn of the fraternity, formed in the spring of 1979, is named in honor of former Chief Justice William S. Richardson of the Hawai'i Supreme Court. The fraternity is dedicated to the professional and social interests of its members and to service to the School of Law. Membership is open to all men and women law students who have completed their first semester of law school. In 1987, the inn was chosen as International Inn of the Year. www.phideltaphi.org

Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Team

A team of four second- and third-year law students competes in this competition involving international law controversies. Students receive one credit for participation in this effort, which gives them an opportunity to improve their brief-writing and advocacy skills as well as their understanding of international law.

Rutherford Institute—Student Chapter

The Rutherford Institute is a worldwide organization dedicated to the protection and promotion of religious freedom. The student chapter, established in 1993, participates in protecting the religious freedoms of people from all faiths and walks of life primarily by providing law students with pro bono opportunities. Student members also have the opportunity to attend the yearly banquet and spend a summer in Charlottesville, Virginia as an intern at Rutherford headquarters.

Student Bar Association (SBA)

Throughout the school year, the SBA actively develops and promotes school-related activities of interest to students, faculty, and the community at large. The SBA participates in the orientation program for incoming first-year law students and coordinates various social and sporting events which help to facilitate this goal.

Other important programs include the presentation of legal forums and debates on various current legal issues.

University of Hawai'i Filipino Law Students Association (UHFLSA)

The UHFLSA was formally organized in 1981 to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the arrival of the first Filipinos in Hawai'i. The Association is dedicated to meeting the growing need of the Filipino community in Hawai'i for better legal services and more effective representation in the mainstream of Hawai'i. To achieve these goals, the association's major efforts are aimed at providing academic, career, and moral support to enrolled Filipino law students and at recruiting and guiding Filipino candidates for enrollment in the School of Law. Membership is open to all interested students currently enrolled in the School of Law and alumni.

The University of Hawai'i Law Review

The University of Hawai'i Law Review, established in 1979, is a scholarly journal managed and edited by second- and third-year students. The Law Review serves the dual purposes of training law students in writing and research and serving the profession and public through the discussion of important developments in the law. Second-year members are selected by the student editorial board on the basis of outstanding academic ability exhibited either through first-year grades or through a writing competition conducted by the Law Review. Third-year members are selected by similar criteria, based on academic and writing ability as demonstrated by Second-Year Seminar papers.

Women Law Students Association

WLSA was founded to promote the participation and to recognize the achievements of women in Hawai'i's legal community and to educate its members and the community about issues of concern to women.

Awards and Prizes

Carl K. Mirikitani Memorial Prize

This Valedictory Prize is awarded to the graduating student with the highest law school grade point average. Established through the generosity of friends, family, and colleagues, the prize is in memory of Carl K. Mirikitani, who died in 1983 at the age of 35. At the time of his death, Mr. Mirikitani was a partner with the law firm of Goodsill Anderson Quinn and Stifel in Honolulu.

The Cades Schutte Fleming & Wright Scholarship

Giving back to the community was the primary motivation of The Cades Foundation and the partners of Cades Schutte Fleming & Wright, in establishing these scholarships in 1997 to commemorate the 75th anniversary of one of the oldest and most respected law firms in the State of Hawai'i. Selection of the Cades Scholars is based upon academic merit and leadership potential, and preference is given to students evidencing financial need and who express an intent to live and practice law in the State of Hawai'i. When fully funded, the endowment will provide six partial renewable scholarship awards to two students from each of the 1L, 2L and 3L classes.

James Koshiba Law Review Scholarship

Through the generosity of attorney James Koshiba, a scholarship is awarded annually to an editor of The University of Hawai'i Law Review. The award is based upon scholastic achievement and commitment of time and effort.

James Koshiba Public Service Award

This award is granted annually to a law student who has demonstrated a commitment to working in public service or public interest. The award is intended to assist the student with tuition costs. Mr. Koshiba is a practicing attorney in Honolulu.

The Wallace S. Fujiyama Memorial Scholarship Endowment Fund

Established in 1994, just after the death of distinguished Honolulu attorney Wallace S. Fujiyama, this scholarship fund is intended to assist law students who were born and raised in Hawai'i. It is funded by friends and family to perpetuate his ideals, values, and standards of excellence. Mr. Fujiyama was a former Regent at the University of Hawai'i and Chairman of the Board of Regents. He was also a past president of the University of Hawai'i Alumni Association and was, throughout his life, a fervent supporter of the goals and ideals of the School of Law.

The George M. Johnson and Evelyn W. Johnson Scholarship Fund

Made possible through a gift from the estate of Evelyn W. Johnson, this fund awards scholarship assistance to students with need. Dr. George M. Johnson was this school's first Director of the Pre-Admission Program; a visiting professorship has also been established in his name.

The Hilo High School Alumni Scholarship

Established in recognition of the teachers and counselors at Hilo High School who inspired and encouraged him, Sheldon S.H. Zane ('84) and his wife, Gwendolyn, established an endowment to fund three annual, renewable scholarships for students at the William S. Richardson School of Law who graduated from Hilo High School.

The Michael P. Porter Dean's Scholastic Award

Through the generosity of Michael P. Porter of Honolulu, there have been established two annual cash prizes to be awarded to the students with the highest cumulative grade point averages at the end of their first- and second-year classes, respectively.

Dean's Scholars

Each year up to three students are recognized for academic excellence with a cash award from the Law Annual Fund.

Rush Moore Craven Sutton Morry and Beh Prizes

Established in 1988, these prizes recognize the top first-year students in Torts and Real Property. Funds for the prizes are donated by the Honolulu law firm of Rush, Moore, Craven, Sutton, Morry and Beh.

The Kashiwagi Fund for Japanese Studies

The Kashiwagi Fund is a gift from Tokyo attorney Kaoru Kashiwagi and his wife, Michiko. The Fund provides grants to faculty, students, or research associates affiliated with the law school to support the study of topics in Japanese law.

The Hiraoki Kono Foundation Scholarship & Lawrence H. Kono Memorial Award

These awards have been established by the family and friends of Lawrence H. Kono, a delegate to the 1978 Constitutional Convention and a member of the Class of 1981, who died unexpectedly just prior to entering the School of Law. The scholarship is awarded annually on the basis of academic performance. The memorial award is given annually to the student who earns the highest grade in Federal Income Taxation.

The Richard S. and Percy K. Mirikitani Memorial Scholarship

This scholarship award honors two distinguished attorneys and brothers and acknowledges their dedication and contribution to the legal profession in Hawai'i. In establishing this scholarship for students from Hawai'i, Dr. Clifford and Helene Mirikitani hope that promising law students will be inspired and encouraged to pursue similarly successful careers in the field of law and service to the state.

The Sogi Foundation Summer Intern Scholarship Fund

This award is funded by an annual gift from The Sogi Foundation to provide scholarship support to UH Law students who are selected to participate in the Kelley Drye & Warren LLP Summer Associate Program in New York. In establishing this scholarship for a non-career track summer position, Mr. Francis Y. Sogi (a partner of the firm) wanted to provide UH Law students with the opportunity to work in a major international law firm and return to Hawai'i having had the exposure and understanding of the spirit behind a major international law practice.

Francell Marbeth Mokihana Marquardt Scholarship for Pacific Island Students

This scholarship honors Francell Marbeth Mokihana Marquardt, who was a student at the William S. Richardson School of Law from 1981 until her death in 1986. Toward the end of her life, Fran dreamed of helping students from Pacific Island nations to study law. This scholarship fund is designed to serve this goal. It provides direct subsidies for students from Pacific Island nations and those of Pacific Island descent who plan to live and work in the Pacific Islands.

Susan McKay Memorial Award

The Dean's Fund provides cash prizes for the winner and runner-up of the Susan McKay Memorial Moot Court Competition held each fall. The winner's name is placed on a permanent plaque displayed in the Law Library. Susan McKay entered the School of Law in 1980 and, just prior to her death in 1982, participated with distinction on the law school's National Moot Court Team.

Advocates for Public Interest Law Award

This award is presented to the student or students who have made significant contributions to the public interest in the previous academic year. This fund was initiated by a gift from the Class of 1985.

Bendet Fidell Sakai & Lee Award

Established in 1996 by the partners of Bendet Fidell Sakai & Lee, this cash prize is given to the student who achieves the highest performance in corporation or business law.

The Spirit of Alison K. Adams Award

Established by a gift from the Class of 1994, this cash award is given to a non-traditional law student in memory of Alison K. Adams, Class of 1994, who died during her third year in law school.

Pacific-Asian Scholarship Award

A limited number of tuition scholarships are awarded to qualified law students who have demonstrated a special interest, experience, or background in Asia and/or the Pacific area.

George C. Munro Award for Environmental Law

This cash award was established by the Hawai'i Audubon Society in memory of George C. Munro for his pioneering work in protecting Hawai'i's native wildlife. It is given annually to the student who receives the highest grade in Environmental Law.

Hyman M. Greenstein Memorial Scholarship

This scholarship pays tribute to Hyman M. Greenstein, a well-respected Honolulu attorney, whose professional career exemplified the highest of standards in the legal field. The cash award is given annually to an entering student whose academic record exhibits significant accomplishment.

Ruddy F. Tongg Memorial Prize

This cash award is given each year to the student with the highest academic performance in Real Estate Development and Finance.

Alumni/Friends Awards

Each year, the Alumni and Friends of the William S. Richardson School of Law sponsor a golf tournament, the proceeds of which are used to fund scholarships for three students dedicated to service in the public interest.

American Bar Association, Section on Urban, State and Local Government

Special book awards are made to students in relevant courses on the basis of excellence in academic performance.

CALI Excellence for the Future Awards

Certificates are awarded each semester to students achieving the highest academic performance in selected subjects. The certificates are given by CALI, the Center for Computer Assisted Legal Instruction, a consortium of the nation's law schools.

Corpus Juris Secundum Awards

Made available by West Publishing Company, these awards recognize outstanding academic achievement in the first-year curriculum.

West Publishing Company Awards

These annual selected book awards recognize outstanding scholastic achievement among enrolled students.

The Bernard Levinson Memorial Award

This annual award is presented to the law student who is judged to have written the outstanding essay on a topic of constitutional law during the preceding academic year. The Bernard Levinson Fund was established within the Jewish Federation of Hawai'i to serve as a memorial to the former Hawai'i

Supreme Court Justice. Justice Levinson taught at the School of Law after his retirement from the Court.

Young Lawyers Annual Student Award

This annual cash award is presented by the Young Lawyers Division of the Hawai'i State Bar Association to the law student judged to have written the outstanding Second-Year Seminar paper during the academic year.

The Nathan Burkan Memorial Award

Sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, these awards are presented each year to students submitting the best essays on the subject of copyright law.

The United States Law Week Award

The Bureau of National Affairs, Inc. of Washington, D.C., awards a year's subscription to Law Week or to The BNA Civil Trial Manual to the graduating student who, in the judgment of the faculty, has made the most satisfactory progress in his/her final year.

Wayne C. Gagne Memorial Award

The Wayne C. Gagne Memorial Award provides round-trip airfare and a small stipend for a member of the Environmental Law Society to attend the annual Western Public Interest Law Conference at the University of Oregon Law School. The recipient is selected by the membership of the Environmental Law Society, with preference given to officers of the Society. The award has been given in the name of Wayne C. Gagne, a former entomologist with the Bishop Museum, who during his life was a significant force in support of wildlife and habitat conservation in Hawai'i.

Law School Tuition Awards for Academic Excellence

Partial tuition awards are given to incoming, second- and third-year students who demonstrate outstanding academic achievement and strong leadership qualities.

Legal Aid Society Awards

The Legal Aid Society recognizes students for their outstanding pro bono work for the poor in the community.

American Bankruptcy Institute Medal of Excellence

A medal is given to a graduating student selected for demonstrated excellence in the study of bankruptcy law.

C. Jepson Garland Memorial Scholarship Award

This award, given by the Hawai'i State Bar Association, Real Property and Financial Services Section, in memory of attorney C. Jepson Garland, is presented to a student who has shown excellence in writing on issues concerning Real Property, including planning and environmental issues, and issues concerning financial services such as UCC, Real Property Lending, Security Instruments and related matters.

Hawai'i State Bar Association, Real Property and Financial Services Section Award

This award, given by the Hawai'i State Bar Association, Real Property and Financial Services Section, is presented to a student who has shown excellence in writing on issues concerning Real Property, including planning and environmental issues and issues concerning financial services such as UCC, Real Property Lending, Security Instruments and related matters.

Phi Delta Phi Professional Responsibility Award

Phi Delta Phi is the oldest and largest national legal fraternity. This award is given to the student who earned the highest grade in Professional Responsibility. A plaque with the recipient's name is housed in the Law Library.

National Association of Women Lawyers Outstanding Law Student Award

The National Association of Women Lawyers gives this award to a third-year law student who shows promise of contributing to the advancement of women in society and who achieves academic excellence.

Gregory Conlan Memorial Prize

This award is presented to the student who earns the highest grade in the Bankruptcy Law course each academic year. The Conlan Prize was established through memorial gifts from members of the Bankruptcy Section of the Hawai'i State Bar Association. The Fund memorializes Gregory P. Conlan, a 1977 graduate of the Law School who passed away in 1992.

The Amy C. Richardson Award

Commencing with the 1995-96 academic year, the purpose of the Amy Ching Richardson Memorial Fund was extended to promote scholarship in native Hawaiian rights. An annual cash award is given to a law student who writes the best research paper on a subject relating to native Hawaiian rights. The Amy C. Richardson Memorial Award is presented at the awards ceremony each year and the award-winning paper is bound and included within the Law Library's Hawaiian Law collection.

Admission and Financial Information

PROFILE OF THE STUDENT BODY

Since this is the only law school in the state, many students were either born in Hawai'i or have strong ties to the state. Additionally, the School of Law admits a number of nonresident applicants with strong academic credentials who also demonstrate the potential to make a special contribution to either the state or the academic programs of the School of Law. Included among these are individuals fluent in Pacific or Asian languages and those who bring backgrounds—either professional or academic—in Pacific Island, Asian, environmental or ocean studies.

The student body reflects the ethnic diversity of the population of Hawai'i and includes individuals of African-American, Caucasian, Chamorro, Chinese, Filipino, Japanese, Korean, Micronesian, Native American, Native Hawaiian, Portuguese, and Samoan descent.

Nearly 50 percent of the 240-member student body is female. Sixty percent attended undergraduate institutions on the mainland or abroad and about 20 percent have undertaken graduate work in other disciplines.

PROFILE OF RECENT ADMITTEES

Because admission to the William S. Richardson School of Law is highly competitive, prospective applicants should be informed of the type of profile offered by the most recently admitted class (the class of 2001). At the time of printing of this publication, final information was not yet available on those who enrolled. However, the information on those admitted should be helpful in assessing the relative competitiveness of the application process.

The median LSAT score for the most recently admitted class is 160 with an 80 percent range from 156 to 170. The median undergraduate grade point average is approximately 3.31 (on a 4-point scale) with an 80 percent range from 2.91 to 3.98. The median age of admittees is 25 years with a range from 21 to 57 years.

Nearly 50 percent of admittees have undergraduate majors in the social sciences, with 13 percent from science and engineering backgrounds and 14 percent from business and economics. Twenty-two percent were humanities majors.

A sampling of the more than 95 different undergraduate institutions which the student body represents is shown below.

PRE-LAW EDUCATION

The School of Law has no fixed requirements with respect to the content of pre-law education. Programs of study in any of the established disciplines (for example, the physical and social sciences, mathematics or philosophy) provide good preparation for law study. Course work which enhances writing ability should be emphasized. Reading, reasoning, and communication skills are, of course, critically important; beyond this, both specialized and general knowledge are useful. Openness, liveliness, and independence of mind are essential.

Law school work, like the profession of law itself, increasingly draws upon fields such as biology, marine science, engineering, economics, and psychology—to name only a few. Accordingly, persons who are interested in a law career should not hesitate to do undergraduate work in such fields.

ADMISSION INFORMATION

Many more qualified persons apply to the School of Law each year than can be accommodated. For the 1998 admission year, there were nearly six applicants for each of the seventy-five available seats in the first-year class.

In arriving at its decisions, the School of Law Admissions Committee, comprising faculty members and student body representatives, strives to select those applicants who demonstrate superior academic and professional promise and who are most likely to make a contribution to the community and to the academic environment and the diversity of the school.

Significant attention is given to the results of the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) and the applicant's undergraduate academic record. The latter may be adjusted by consideration of the rigor of the undergraduate major and institution as well as trend of grades. The LSAT and academic record each comprise about one-third of the admission evaluation. Additional factors include (but are not limited to): writing ability, extracurricular and/or public service, unusual accomplishment, additional academic work beyond the bachelor's degree, volunteer or professional experience, particularly as it may be relevant to programs within the School of Law, the applicant's written statements, and letters of recommendation.

Because lawyers and law students are held to high ethical standards, applicants are cautioned to be truthful and candid during the entire admission process. The School of Law expects that all applicants will furnish all requested information in a complete and correct manner. Failure to disclose an act or event may be more significant, and lead to more serious consequences, than the act or event itself. Failure to provide complete and truthful information, or failure to inform the Admissions Office of any changes to your answers, may result in dismissal from or disciplinary action by the law school, revocation of degree, or denial of permission to practice law by the state in which you seek bar admission.

Detailed information on application procedures is provided in the material accompanying the application forms. Completion of application requirements by the stated deadlines is the responsibility of each applicant. Thus, applicants are advised to check with the Law School Admission Service (LSAS), with those individuals providing the required letters of recommendation, and with educational institutions furnishing transcripts to the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) to assure that all materials are being compiled and mailed before the appropriate deadline. Applications that are not complete by the deadline (including letters of recommendation) will not be reviewed. Because application materials are revised annually, applicants are required to file on the application forms current for the year in which admission is being sought.

All applicants for admission must have earned (by the date of intended matriculation) a bachelor's degree or equivalent from an accredited institution of higher learning in the United States or abroad.

THE LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST (LSAT)

All applicants must furnish results of the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). The February test administration is the latest acceptable one for consideration for the next Fall entering class. Scores from tests older than three years will not be considered.

Individuals residing in foreign jurisdictions should plan to correspond with LSAS several months ahead of the intended test date as it may be necessary to arrange a special testing center.

To obtain test registration information, applicants should write to Law School Admission Services, Box 2000, Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940-0998.

LSAS has prepared a variety of study aids to assist applicants with preparation for the LSAT. Information on these is contained in the test registration information bulletin. The School of Law takes no position on recommending or not recommending the many commercial products on the market which are designed to assist with LSAT preparation.

THE LAW SCHOOL DATA ASSEMBLY SERVICE (LSDAS)

Applicants to the William S. Richardson School of Law are also required to register for the LSDAS and to submit official transcripts of the entire undergraduate record to LSDAS for processing. The LSAS bulletin provides detailed information on this service and how to subscribe to it. Once an applicant has registered for and taken the LSAT and registered for and provided transcripts to LSDAS, the report generation process will begin. Applicants may register for the LSDAS at the same time as they register for the LSAT.

Applicants are advised to follow LSDAS procedures carefully and to request transcripts in a timely manner. Generally, final report generation takes about four weeks after all transcripts have been sent to LSDAS and the LSAT test has been taken. The fee to register for the LSDAS does not include the cost of requesting individual transcripts from each undergraduate institution. The School of Law will not review applications whose completeness has been delayed by failure to follow LSDAS procedures.

Applicants who have undertaken and/or completed graduate work should have those transcripts sent directly to the School of Law from the graduate institution(s). These transcripts are also required before an application can be considered complete.

All foreign-educated applicants must check the LSAT Information Booklet's Four-Year College Codes list. If your college or university is listed in the booklet, you MUST register for the LSDAS service. You should write to LSAS at P.O. Box 2000, Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940-0998 or call (215) 968-1001 to obtain subscription instructions and to request the necessary forms.

If your college or university is not listed in the Information Booklet, you must request that official academic records/transcripts be sent directly to the School of Law and you should not register for the LSDAS.

Applicants who registered for a previous year's service from LSDAS but who did not attend law school in that year should contact LSAS about renewing the LSDAS service for another year.

TEST OF ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE (TOEFL)

Results of the TOEFL are required for those applicants from foreign countries where English is not the first language, as well as from those who do not hold a bachelor's degree (or equivalent) from an accredited institution of higher learning in the United States, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, England, or English-speaking countries in Africa.

For Fall admission consideration, the previous January TOEFL is the latest acceptable test. TOEFL scores older than two years will not be considered. Applicants who score less than 600 on this exam are usually not considered competitive.

Applicants should make certain that their official TOEFL results are forwarded to the School of Law. Confusion in forwarding results could result in substantial delays which make it impossible to review an application.

LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION

Applicants must submit two letters of recommendation. Although additional letters are welcome, an applicant's file will be considered complete when two letters, in addition to other required materials, have been provided.

Applicants must select one of two methods of submitting letters of recommendation.

The School of Law recommends that all applicants' letters of recommendation be submitted through the LSAC letter of recommendation service which is included in the LSDAS registration subscription. To use this service, follow the directions for submitting letters of recommendation outlined in the 1999-2000 LSAT/LSDAS Registration and Information Book, page I-9.

Each recommender must receive from the applicant a letter of recommendation form from the LSAT/LSDAS Registration and Information Book and attach it to their letter of recommendation.

It is important to note that the LSAC letter of recommendation service is designed for general letters of recommendation only. Please notify recommenders that letters must be sent to LSAC by February 15, 2000 to ensure that the letters reach the Law School by the March 15, 2000 deadline.

Recommenders who prefer to write a school-specific letter (letters that recommend the applicant specifically for admission to the William S. Richardson School of Law), may still do so; however, the letter should then be sent directly to the Law School postmarked by the March 15, 2000 deadline to the following address: William S. Richardson School of Law, Office of Admissions, 2515 Dole Street, Honolulu, Hawai'i 96822. If your recommender is going to send us a school-specific letter, please be sure to send them the school-specific form furnished with our application materials.

Each year some files are withdrawn as incomplete due to a missing letter of recommendation. Applicants are cautioned about this and encouraged to seek an extra letter. For any extra letters, applicants should photocopy the letter of recommendation forms and provide them to the recommenders.

The most helpful letters come from faculty members who are well aware of the applicant's potential for rigorous academic performance. Those applicants who have been away from school for a considerable period of time may submit letters from alternative sources who can comment thoughtfully on the applicant's ability to undertake and succeed in the study of law.

Letters of recommendation should come from recommenders who have had the opportunity to observe at close hand the applicant's abilities and potential. The name and status of the recommender contribute little unless that individual has observed or worked closely with the applicant in an academic or professional capacity.

Federal law protects the privacy and rights of access to such letters of recommendation. Applicants are advised to pay close attention to this information in the application packet.

APPLICATION FEE

A $30 application fee, made payable to the University of Hawai'i, must accompany each application for admission. Please be advised that the University's Board of Regents have determined that, under no circumstances, is this fee waivable or refundable.

PERSONAL INTERVIEWS/VISITS

The School of Law does not require, nor does it grant, personal interviews as part of the admissions process. Occasionally, the committee may wish to meet with an applicant for clarifying purposes. However, such meetings are rare and are initiated by the Admissions Committee. Applicants are invited to seek clarification of application procedures by calling the Admissions Office at the School of Law at (808) 956-7966 or by e-mailing lawadm@hawaii.edu. Applicants may also wish to visit the School of Law and to attend classes. Because such visits must be coordinated with the schedules of student hosts and faculty members, applicants are advised to contact the School of Law at least one week prior to the intended visit. Visits are arranged only during September, October, early November, February, March and early April.

DEADLINES, NOTIFICATIONS AND TIMING OF DECISIONS

The School of Law has a two-tiered deadline for receipt of application materials. All application packet materials from the School of Law must be postmarked by March 1. All other application materials (LSAT/LSDAS report and letters of recommendation) must be postmarked by March 15. In order to assure meeting these deadlines, the Admissions Office strongly recommends informing your recommenders that LSDAS must receive your transcripts and letters of recommendation by February 15, 2000. Applications which remain incomplete or those with late-arriving material will be withdrawn from consideration.

Applicants from foreign locations are advised to send application materials by air mail as surface service can take several months.

Upon receipt of the application packet materials, the School of Law will notify each applicant of the status of the application file. This is the only incomplete notice the applicant will receive. A complete notice is sent only when all required materials/documents are received; until so notified, applicants should assume that their files remain incomplete. Applicants are encouraged to call or write to the Admissions Office about the status of their files if they have not received a complete notice. Incomplete applications will be withdrawn from consideration after the stated deadline and a notification letter sent at that time. Because of the importance of these notifications, applicants should advise the School of Law immediately of any changes of address. The School of Law assumes no responsibility for missed deadlines resulting from failure to inform us of a change in address.

The Admissions Committee begins reviewing completed applications in the order in which they are received. Thus, early application is advised. The Committee generally begins meeting in January and continues to meet until all applications completed by the deadline are reviewed—usually late March. Some decisions, particularly those on early admission, may be made in late February; however, most applicants will not receive final notification until mid-April.

DEFERRED ADMISSION

The School of Law does not have a deferred admission program. For this reason, applicants are encouraged to apply for the year in which they intend to enroll. A previously admitted applicant who does not attend and who re-applies should be aware that the new application will be reviewed again in its entirety and in relation to the new applicant pool. A previous admission does not guarantee re-admission.

REACTIVATION OF APPLICATIONS AND STATUS OF APPLICANT FILES

All application materials become the property of the School of Law. Applicants are advised to make personal copies of their applications as the School of Law will not photocopy application materials for an applicant. If an applicant wishes to have copies of those letters of recommendation submitted on his/her behalf, the applicant should make this request of the recommenders.

The School of Law retains applicant files for two years. Individuals who have applied within the past two years and who wish to reactivate their files should refer to the instructions in the application packet.

SCHOOL OF LAW PRE-ADMISSION PROGRAM

The Pre-Admission Program, established in 1974 to address the issue of disadvantaged applicants, provides selected students with an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to perform in law school. The students, who are selected from among applicants with academic records not strong enough to justify admission into the regular three-year Juris Doctor program, must nonetheless demonstrate enough promise to indicate potential for successful completion of law study and significant contribution as lawyers.

There is no separate application process for this program. The twelve applicants invited to participate in the Pre-Admission Program are identified by the Admissions Committee during their review of regular applications to the Juris Doctor program.

Students in the Pre-Admission Program enroll for up to one year as unclassified students in selected first-year law courses and a special seminar and tutorials. Upon successful completion of the Pre-Admission Program, students then matriculate without reapplication into the regular three-year JD program. Thus, the normal course of study for a successful Pre-Admission/JD student is four years.

TRANSFER AND VISITING STUDENT APPLICATIONS

Applications for admission with advanced standing by individuals who have successfully completed the full first-year curriculum in a JD program at another American Bar Association-approved law school will be considered.

Successful second-year transfer applicants will be expected to meet the academic and graduation requirements of the School of Law and to complete at least half (45) of the 89 credits required for graduation while maintaining full-time status after enrolling in the School of Law. No more than 44 credits will be considered for advanced standing.

Students enrolled in other ABA-approved law schools may apply to take course work for academic credit in the School of Law as visiting students. For these visiting students, the law school degree will be awarded by their home institutions. Priority in selection is given to those entering their third year of law school.

Normal admissions criteria apply to both transfer and visiting applicants except that considerable weight is given to prior academic performance in law school. Preference will be given to those applicants in both categories who possess a law school grade point average in the top half of their law school class.

Applications from transfer and visiting students are reviewed twice annually for admission to either the fall or spring semesters. The application deadline for fall matriculation is May 1 and for spring matriculation, September 1. Applicants will be notified of admissions decisions in June and October for the fall and spring semesters respectively.

Students interested in transferring to or enrolling as visiting students in the School of Law should contact the Admissions Office for complete information on criteria and procedures.

STUDENT EXCHANGE PROGRAM—WESTERN INTER-STATE COMMISSION FOR HIGHER EDUCATION (WICHE)

The School of Law participates in the Student Exchange Programs administered by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, under which legal residents of western states without a law school, pay the same tuition and fees at this institution as residents of the State of Hawai'i. To be certified as eligible for this program, the student must write to the WICHE certifying officer in his/her home state for the proper application forms. State eligibility requirements vary and the number of students funded by each state depends upon the level of appropriations by the state legislature. For addresses of state certifying officers, write to the Director, Student Exchange Programs, Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, P.O. Drawer P, Boulder, Colorado 80302.

FINANCIAL AID

Most of the financial assistance available to School of Law students is need-based and is administered by the University's Financial Aid Services office. Applicants to the School of Law who intend to apply for financial aid should contact Financial Aid Services, University of Hawai'i at Mānoa, 2600 Campus Road, Honolulu, Hawai'i 96822, as early as possible for information and application forms. Generally, the application deadline is March 1.

The University of Hawai'i participates in several state- and federally-sponsored loan programs. Applicants should be advised that no final action will be taken on applications for financial assistance until the applicant has been officially admitted to the School of Law. Nevertheless, students should still file a financial aid application by March

1. Financial Aid Services also provides information about other sources of financial assistance.

Students covered by any veterans program should present appropriate certification to the veterans advisor at the time of registration in order to receive benefits. Inquiries regarding all veterans affairs should be directed to the Mānoa Campus Veterans Advisor.

Qualified law students are eligible to apply for East-West Center grants. Interested persons should make early inquiry to the Awards Office of the East-West Center, 1777 East-West Road, Honolulu, Hawai'i 96848. The application deadline is generally in early December.

The School of Law administers an emergency loan fund for enrolled students. Funds for these no-interest loans (generally about $300) have been contributed by various donors.

TUITION AND FEES

For the academic year 2000–2001, School of Law tuition and fees for residents of Hawai'i are $4,536 per semester, and for nonresidents approximately $7,788 per semester. All tuition and fees are due in full by the last day of the late registration period each semester. Since tuition and fees are adjusted annually, applicants should call the Admissions Office for revised tuition information.

Each student's residence status is determined by the university prior to registration. Questions about residency requirements should be addressed to the University's Residency Officer at 808-956-8975.

Each semester the University of Hawai'i establishes a schedule for the full or partial refund of tuition and fees if a student withdraws completely from the School of Law and the university. This schedule is available from the University Cashier's Office and is printed in the University's Schedule of Classes, which is published before the pre-registration period each semester.

Courses, seminars, workshops and clinics in the curriculum, and their content and credit hours, are subject to change. Subjects designated by an asterisk (*) are not offered every year. The School of Law reserves the right to fix the number of credit hours in a given semester for a course designated as variable (V).

Administrative Law: Law 561 (3)

This course covers the legal regime applicable to federal, state and local agency decision-making and the role of the courts in reviewing agency decisions through study of the federal and Hawai'i Administrative Procedure Acts and the case law arising under them.

Admiralty Law: Law 549 (3) *

An introduction to United States maritime law and admiralty jurisdiction emphasizing development of rules of maritime law and rights of seamen and maritime workers. Considers maritime liens, charter parties, salvage, collision, general average and limitation of liability, and developments relating to protection of the marine environment.

Advanced Civil Procedure: Law 542 V(2) *

The course addresses various aspects of complex litigation and recent criticism about the civil litigation system itself. The course is theoretical in emphasis and is developed from two directions: (1) through a study of jurisprudential material concerning adversarial dispute resolution, the substance/procedure dichotomy and value-identification; and (2) through in-depth analysis of procedural aspects of complex cases (with a special focus on new procedural rules aimed at reducing waste and delay).

Advanced Torts and Insurance Law: Law 524 V(2) *

The course involves students in the advanced study of several areas of torts, compensation and insurance law and policy that are of considerable contemporary importance to the practicing lawyer. Recent important developments in Hawai'i tort and insurance law will be included.

American Legal History: Law 566 (3) *

Survey of the development of American law from pre-colonial times to the present. Comparison of the development of Hawaiian law in contrast to mainland legal development, focusing on various forces shaping the law and the use of law as an instrument of social progress.

Antitrust Law: Law 553 (3) *

An introductory course in Antitrust Law, focusing on aspects of the law likely to be of importance to Hawai'i businesses and practitioners. After a brief introduction to micro-economic theory, the course analyzes the effect of market structure and firm size upon the competitive performance of businesses and explores legal restraints on firm size, market structure, and exclusionary conduct. With respect to restraints on trade, the course examines the continuing development of the concepts of per se illegality and the "rule of reason," as first applied to "horizontal" competition and then to "vertical" relationships among firms, in light of the difficulty of characterizing complex business conduct. Finally, the course covers selected topics such as price discrimination, state action and state immunity, licensing of intellectual property, and antitrust "standing".

Appellate Advocacy I: Law 505 (2)

This course provides skills training in appellate brief writing and oral advocacy. Students participate in competitive argumentation to master these skills.

Asian Comparative Law: Law 587 (3) *

This course is intended to provide an introduction to the civil law tradition, particularly as exemplified by the legal systems of East and Southeast Asia. After a brief review of comparative law study and the historical development of civil law, the course will examine the structure and role of the courts, the judicial process, constitutional law and administrative law in Western Europe and in the Asian civil law countries.

Asian Comparative Labor Law: Law 556 (3) *

This course will examine comparative law issues, area studies of Asian legal systems, and focus on Asian labor laws and their administration in a comparative Asian context. Some emphasis may be given to how that may affect foreign direct investment, and also, how the laws may relate to foreign migrant contract workers, both as to sending and host countries. Attention will be given to China and Japan, and topics and discussions will compare legal approaches used by these and other Asian countries in dealing with common issues. A research paper is required in lieu of an examination.

Business Reorganization in Bankruptcy: Law 515 V(2) *

This course introduces you to the law governing the relations between financially distressed business debtors (those who owe) and their creditors (those to whom obligations are owed). We will consider why businesses encounter financial troubles, and what remedies businesses may pursue outside of bankruptcy court to solve their troubles. We will then focus on business reorganization under the Federal Bankruptcy Code. We will consider, throughout the course, how creditors, debtors and their attorneys take the effects of bankruptcy law into account in (i) counseling clients, (ii) negotiating, documenting and performing contracts, (iii) reducing risk, and (iv) resolving disputes with and without litigation. Pre or concurrent: Secured Transactions (LAW 554). Rec: Debtors' & Creditors' Rights (Law 562).

Chinese Business Law: Law 578 V(2) *

This course is intended to provide an introduction to business and commercial law in the People's Republic of China. After a brief overview of China's political and legal system, the course will examine basic areas of domestic business legislation, including torts and contract law, the regulation of private business, the reform of state enterprises, the development of company and securities laws, and regulation of land-use and other property rights. More specialized topics, such as arbitration and dispute resolution, the Chinese approach to intellectual property issues, or the use of joint ventures and other foreign investment vehicles, may also be included.

Civil Procedure I and II: Law 516 (3), 517 (3)

A study of pretrial, trial, and appellate procedures in federal and Hawai'i courts. Subjects considered include jurisdiction and the relationship between such courts, the relationship between procedural and substantive law, pleading and joinder, discovery, jury trial and the role of the judge, verdicts and motions after verdict, judgments and their enforcement, and appellate review.

Civil Rights: Law 584 (2)

This course focuses on the civil rights of Americans and introduces alternative remedies and procedures for securing these rights. Statutory law, including 42 USC 1983, the Equal Pay Act, and various statutes prohibiting discrimination, are emphasized as well as Bivens-type actions, common law causes of action in tort, enforcement by the Justice Department and other government agencies, and criminal prosecution of civil rights violators. The course compares these litigation alternatives, noting their strengths and limitations, and studies the experiences of the lawyers who have used them.

Conflict of Laws: Law 538 (3)

The course, which is often called "private international law," involves examination and analysis of rules, approaches, and policies that determine which law, substantive and procedural, applies to transactions and events that touch more than one state, nation, or other jurisdiction. The central focus for study is "choice of law," but other areas include recognition of foreign judgments and jurisdiction.

Constitutional Law I: Law 533 (3)

An introduction to the judicial function in constitutional cases, jurisdiction of the United States Supreme Court, and discretionary barriers to judicial review. This course focuses on racial discrimination, gender discrimination, and concepts of fairness.

Constitutional Law II: Law 534 (3)

A continuation of Constitutional Law I with special emphasis on problems of due process and freedom of speech. This course also examines the division of powers between the states and the nation, powers of Congress, the commerce clause, and governmental immunities. Pre: Constitutional Law I (Law 533).

Contracts I and II: Law 509 (3), 510 (3)

This course is an introduction to the law governing contract disputes, including the common law of contracts and selected parts of Articles 1 and 2 of the Uniform Commercial Code. The course examines the character and materials of legal argument in the area and explores the relationship between legal discourse and contractual practices within our community.

Corporate and Partnership Taxation: Law 550 (3) *

The course examines tax aspects of the formation, operation, reorganization, and liquidation of closely held corporations and partnerships. This course is geared to the non-specialist. Pre: Federal Income Taxation (Law 567) and Corporations (Law 531).

Corporations: Law 531 V(4)

Brief survey of agency and partnerships, the fundamentals of corporations, and securities regulation, including disregarding the corporate entity, management and control of closely held corporations, merger, liability under the federal securities laws, takeovers, public registration, exemptions, and derivative suits.

Criminal Justice: Law 513 (4)

An examination of substantive rules and rationales of the criminal law. The course begins with a survey of criminal procedure from arrest through sentencing. Study of the criminal sentencing process raises important jurisprudential questions about the purposes and efficacy of criminal sanctions as a response to officially proscribed behavior. The heart of the criminal justice course is the study of general principles of American criminal law, including culpability criteria, the mental element in crimes, and definitional ingredients of crimes such as murder, rape, attempt, and conspiracy. The focus is on the Hawai'i Penal Code, supplemented with comparative materials drawn from the common law and from the law of several Asian nations. Consistent with overall objectives of the first year of law study, the imparting and sharpening of general legal analytical skills is emphasized throughout the criminal justice course.

Criminal Procedure: Law 541 (3)

Students act as defense and prosecution attorneys and judges, arguing and deciding motions concerning criminal procedure problem areas such as free press-fair trial, speedy trial, illegal search and seizure, arrest and confession, double jeopardy, and other current problem areas in the criminal justice system. Major US Supreme Court and Hawai'i cases, statutes and court rules are discussed in the context of motions, argument, and decisions.

Debtors' and Creditors' Rights: Law 562 V(3)

This course introduces you to the law governing the relations between debtors (those who owe) and creditors (those to whom obligations are owed). We will begin by reviewing non-judicial debt collection practices and limitations and judicial state law debt collection (this review will build upon concepts introduced in Secured Transactions). We will then study the Federal Bankruptcy Code, first examining overriding concepts and policies, then consumer bankruptcy cases. We will also consider, throughout the course, how parties and their attorneys can (and indeed must) take the effects of debtor/creditor laws into account in (i) counseling clients, (ii) negotiating, documenting and performing contracts, (iii) reducing risk, and (iv) resolving disputes with and without litigation. Pre or concurrent: Secured Transactions (Law 554).

Directed Study and Research: Law 576 (V)

Students perform research and write papers on selected legal topics or problems under the direction of a faculty member.

Domestic Ocean and Coastal Law: Law 592 (3) *

Examination of the history of the US and Hawai'i sea use law; comprehensive coverage of modern issues concerning the use of the sea including special Hawaiian problems.

Elder Law: Law 521 V(3)

This course provides an introduction to the myriad legal issues which confront the elderly in our society such as age discrimination, elder abuse, estate planning, living wills, entitlement to government benefits, and guardianship.

Employment Discrimination:
Law 507 (3) ***

The course examines the legal avenues for dealing with improper employment discrimination which is based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disabilities, etc. Such artificial barriers barring employment opportunities are discussed in the context of finding the proper balance between the employers' legitimate business needs and the employees' rights under legal requirements of being free from unlawful discrimination. Coverage includes Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Civil Rights Act of 1866, the National Labor Relations Act, U.S. Constitution, Equal Pay Act, Age Discrimination in Employment Act, federal executive orders, and government contract limitations.

Environmental Compliance &
Regulated Industries: Law 512 V(1-3)

Modern businesses and industries are heavily regulated by a myriad of federal and state environmental laws. Ensuring compliance with these important and complex laws is a critical function of corporate law today and we can have far-reaching positive impacts on the environment. Conversely, failure to comply with these laws and their accompanying regulations can lead to serious civil and criminal penalties. This course covers in depth the environmental regulatory structure that impacts businesses and explores the fascinating compliance issues that arise under the statutes, regulations and case law.

Environmental Law: Law 582 V(3) *

The explosion of environmental laws since the early 1970s has dramatically impacted business, government, and private individuals. The tentacles reach into almost all areas of law: from bankruptcy to tax, from land transactions to corporate structuring. This course introduces students to a smorgasbord of federal environmental laws, with an emphasis on pollution control, including the Clean Water Act (CWA), Clean Air Act (CAA), National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA) and its amendments (SARA), and the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). This course provides the fundamentals for those interested in pursuing environmental law careers, as well as students wishing to get a taste of one of the "hottest" areas of the law.

Environmental Litigation Seminar:
Law 529 (2) ***

Seminar on the techniques, law and strategy involved in federal and state court environmental litigation.

Evidence: Law 543 V(4)

A comprehensive examination of problems of proof and the rules of evidence. Initial focus is on the trial of a lawsuit, the functions of judge, counsel and jury, the burden of proof and the professional responsibility of the trial lawyer. Special attention is given to the concept of relevance, the law of hearsay, problems of testimonial proof, and the theory and operation of privileges. The course seeks to question the efficacy of evidence rules as a means of enabling triers of fact to reconstruct past events with accuracy, and at the same time to provide a good working knowledge of evidence law. Problem solving exercises include comparative examination and evaluation of the Federal Rules of Evidence, the Uniform Rules of Evidence, and Hawai'i evidence law. Problems of scientific evidence will be explored.

Externship (Hawai'i): Law 555H (2)

Students perform research, drafting, investigation, and other lawyering tasks for judges, attorney supervisors in public agencies, the State Legislature, and private law firms. The course is graded on a credit/no credit basis.

Externship (Pacific/Asia): Law 555P (12)

Students perform research, drafting, investigation, and other lawyering tasks for judges and attorney supervisors in the Pacific Islands and Asia. The course is graded on a credit/no credit basis.

Family Law: Law 568 (3)

A practical introduction to the law governing the formation, maintenance, and dissolution of the family. Topics include marriage, annulment, divorce, alimony, property division, marriage agreements, and child custody. The course focuses on Hawai'i statutes and case law, within the context of common law and recent constitutional doctrine.

Federal Courts: Law 571 (3)

An examination of the jurisdiction and law-making powers of the federal courts, including standing issues, the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, the federal-question and diversity-of-citizenship jurisdiction of the federal district courts, the immunities from suit in the federal courts possessed by governmental entities and officers, intervention by federal courts in state proceedings, and choice of law in the federal courts. Particular emphasis is placed on relevant Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Pre: Constitutional Law I (Law 533).

Federal Income Taxation:
Law 567 V(3)

An introduction to the federal income taxation of individuals. The tax consequences of a variety of common transactions are explored, but primary emphasis is given to the theory and policy considerations that underlie specific rules. Students are expected to develop proficiency in the use of the Internal Revenue Code and Treasury Regulations.

Group Directed Study: Law 526 (V) *

This course is designed for maximum flexibility. It allows a professor to work with a small number of students on a reading/discussion project of mutual interest. Recent offerings include Feminist Legal Theory, Chinese Law (in Chinese), and Civil Disobedience.

Hazardous Waste Law: Law 540 (2) *

The course covers three federal statutes and their associated regulations and case law: the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA or Superfund), the Resources Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), and the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (EPCRT-KA). In addition, the Hawai'i counterparts to these laws are examined. The course covers not only "black letter" law, but also the policies behind the laws and the impacts these laws have had on communities, individuals, and businesses.

Health Law: Law 532 (3) *

Introduction to medical jurisprudence, forensic medicine, presentation of medical evidence, medical ethics, the health care industry, managed health care services, financing health care, and the role of government in health care.

Immigration Law: Law 548 (2)

A brief overview of historical development of immigration law; analysis of exclusion and deportation grounds and remedies, as well as the study of the legal immigration system of both immigrant and nonimmigrant grant visa applications and petitions. The course also covers the current law on asylum and refugee applications and US citizenship and naturalization requirements.

Intellectual Property: Law 535 (3)

A study of the law relating to property rights in the results of intellectual effort, including patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets. While the course attempts to provide a unified background in theory and policy for all fields of intellectual property, it emphasizes areas of importance to the general practitioner. Accordingly, the doctrines and policies of the patent system are studied primarily for the light they shed upon the nature of intellectual property protection as a whole and upon the interaction between federal and state law.

International Business Transactions:
Law 579 V(2) ***

An examination of the rules governing commercial activities that involve more than one nation. Topics include trade regulations, taxation problems, antitrust problems, and jurisdiction. The focus of this course is on the practical aspects of doing business in an international context.

International Environmental Law:
Law 528 (3) ***

Study of the international regulation of activities and processes used to prevent environmental degradation and to preserve resources of environmental value.

International Law: Law 585 (3)

An examination of the evolving process of formulating rules to govern the transnational problems requiring global solutions. After looking at the United Nations and other international and regional organizations, students focus on: (a) the Law of the Sea negotiations, (b) the laws of war, (c) human rights, and (d) economic problems. Students examine both the substantive content of the current rules and the procedures by which they are being developed. Finally, the course examines the enforcement mechanisms and ways in which international law can be used in the courts of the United States.

International Ocean Law:
Law 593 (2) ***

Examination of many legal issues that affect ocean resources. This course focuses on governance of living and non-living resources, environmental protection, and boundary delimitation.

International Protection of Human Rights: Law 572 V(3) ***

The growing body of international human rights laws, including United Nations activities, regional human rights bodies, women's rights, children's rights, the rights of indigenous peoples, and enforcement of these rights in US Courts.

Jurisprudence: Law 573 (3) *

This course examines four contemporary themes in American jurisprudence: law and economics (law as efficiency), critical legal studies (law as politics), literary theory and deconstructive method (law as a text), and humanistic legal education. Both law and economics and critical legal theory imply that the classical notion of law as a public morality is dead. Excerpts from the realist and anti-realist arguments in the philosophy of science and Ronald Dworkin's recent Law's Empire also will be used to debate the "death of law."

Labor and Employment Law:
Law 589 (3) ***

This course will cover employment law, statutory rights affecting the employment relation, and alternative contract provisions to secure the parties' intention. Course materials focus on the practical application of labor and employment law. The course also provides materials relating to the unionized employment relationship. Emphasis will be given to the labor arbitration process and possibly, to issues regarding internal union affairs.

Labor Law I: Law 559 (3)

The course focuses on the regulation of union-management relations under state and federal law. Topics include: development and changes in labor and employment law; problems relating to union organization, recognition and the duty to bargain collectively; the legality of strikes and strike replacements, picketing and boycotts; employer interference with concerted activities; and the relations between unions and their members. Attention also is given to the trends of US enterprises having overseas production lines and the implications under US labor law.

Land Use Management and Control:
Law 580 (3)

This is a survey course in public control of private use of land: how do state, local, and federal agencies regulate the land development process? Special emphasis is on constitutional issues (exclusionary zoning, regulations and exactions that may be "takings" of property under the federal Constitution), growth management, and innovative techniques such as impact fees, development agreements, and planned unit development. We will also cover zoning, subdivision and housing codes, state and regional land control statutes, together with those aspects of eminent domain, environmental, and public land management law affecting the use of private land.

Law Review: Law 545 (1)

Students selected for the Law Review Editorial Board have writing, researching, editorial and production responsibility for publication of the Law Review. The course is graded on a credit/no credit basis.

Law and Society in China:
Law 586 V(3)

This course is intended to provide students with an overview of the historical foundations of Chinese law as well as an introduction to the present legal system in the People's Republic of China. The first part of the course will survey classical legal theory, the administration of justice during the Qing dynasty and late Qing-Republican legal reforms. The second part will analyze the development of current PRC legal institutions (including the role of the judiciary and legal professionals) and then focus on key areas of recent PRC legislation: dispute resolution, the criminal process, family law and the status of women, and political rights. As a conclusion, comparisons will be drawn with the legal systems in Taiwan, Hong Kong and Singapore—what is uniquely Chinese about their development?

Law and Society in Japan:
Law 514 V(1-3)

This course begins with an extended historical review of the foundations of Japanese law in society, looking at Japan's adoption and adaptation of Chinese legal doctrines, continental European legal structures and ideas, and most recently, American influences. Next, we will consider the structure of contemporary law in Japan, by looking at the various players in the legal system, some important legal doctrines, and the real-world operation of Japan's laws today.

Legal Aspects of Water Resources & Control: Law 588 (2) ***

The course covers the legal aspects of water and water rights with primary focus on Hawai'i. Topics include: Native Hawaiian water rights, pre-McBryde case law, McBryde and post-McBryde developments, water pollution, ground water designation, institutional relationships, and various types of allocation systems.

Legal Method Seminar: Law 504 (3)

A carefully sequenced and closely supervised introduction to the experience of lawyering and legal writing, this seminar is intended to develop lawyering skills, to foster a contextual and multi-disciplinary approach to client problem solving, to promote ethical sensitivity, to provide psychological support, and to add an experiential component to course work. Each seminar group (consisting of one instructor and approximately 12–15 students) functions like a small law firm, with the instructor as “senior partner.” Seminar groups meet twice each week. The introductory problem of the course requires each seminar group to represent a “client” in a live local legal problem, select objectives to be pursued, analyze some portion of the relevant legal doctrine, explore policy considerations, and develop recommendations or serve as advocate for its client (e.g., in a mock legislative committee hearing). This “introductory block” provides students with some sense of what the lawyering process entails and, even more, with many unanswered questions. It also provides an opportunity for students to acquire the propensity and the ability to work closely with each other and with their seminar instructors. Instructors also meet their students individually on a regular basis and are available for additional “ad hoc” conferences. Students may expect that each credit hour of seminar will require more out-of-class work than each credit hour in more conventional courses.

Legal Research: Law 506 (1)

The objective of the course is to introduce students to the primary and secondary sources used in legal research. Lectures and library exercises are designed to complement each other so that students will learn the various starting points for doing legal research.

Moot Court Board: Law 537 (1)

An honors program for students who prepare materials for and organize the intramural first-year Moot Court competition and assist professors in Appellate Advocacy I. The course is graded on a credit/no credit basis.

Moot Court Team: Law 536 (1)

An honors program for students who prepare for and compete in national advocacy. This course is graded on a credit/no credit basis. (C) Client Counseling team; (E) Environmental Law moot court team; (H) Native American moot court team; (J) Jessup International moot court team. Pre: selection by competition.

Native Hawaiian Rights: Law 581 (3)

The purpose of this course is to examine the status and evolution of the rights of Native Hawaiians to the land and its usufructs. Areas of study include the relationship of the rights to possession and use of the land vested in the Monarchy, the chiefs, and native tenants prior to the imposition of a Western legal system defining land tenure; the effect of the Great Mahele of 1848; the erosion of native land rights through adverse possession, land court registration, and quiet title litigation; the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act; and the recently revived question of land reparation. Finally, the course analyzes the potential for utilizing native rights based on statute, custom, and use to fashion new and expanded rights to land and its usufructs.

Negotiable Instruments, Payment Systems and Credit Instruments: Law 557 (2)

This course offers a study of the Uniform Commercial Code provisions that deal with commercial paper (Articles 3), bank collections and deposits (Article 4), funds transfers (Article 4A) and letters of credit (Article 5), as well as material on alternative payment systems, including credit cards, electronic fund transfers and related federal law. Topics include negotiability, the holder-in-due-course doctrine, the demise of the holder-in-due-course doctrine in consumer transactions, allocation of risk for forgery and fraud, the bank-customer relationship, letters of credit, unauthorized use of credit cards, and risk of loss in funds transfers.

Negotiation and Alternative Dispute Resolution: Law 508 V(2)

Lawyers resolve many more cases through negotiation than at trial. Only about 10 percent of all cases go to trial. This course covers the theory and practice of both negotiations and the rapidly developing field of alternative dispute resolution methods with an emphasis on mediation. In addition to regular classroom work, students learn and use conflict resolution skills.

Pacific Islands Legal Systems: Law 594 V(3) *

This course is intended for students who wish to: (1) increase their knowledge of the substantive rules of one or more Pacific Island jurisdictions; and, (2) study the development of legal systems to broaden their understanding of the basic requirements and general characteristics of legal systems. The course will also consider the relationship between the Pacific Islands legal systems and custom and tradition, and will explore the various ways that Pacific jurisdictions have, or have not, been successful in reflecting the values of the people in the substantive and procedural law of the jurisdictions.

Pre-Admission Seminar: Law 501 (4), 502 (4)

Special seminar for Pre-Admission Program students designed to develop analytical, research and communications skills in the context of the substantive law courses in which they are concurrently enrolled. Credits in this seminar do not count toward the requirements for the JD degree.

Pretrial Litigation: Law 564 (2)

This course is designed to teach the theory and practice of civil pretrial litigation skills and focuses on pleading, discovery, and pretrial motions. The course is graded on a credit/no credit basis.

Professional Responsibility: Law 511 (2)

A study of the lawyer's obligations and responsibilities to clients, the profession and society under the Code of Professional Responsibility, and proposed revisions. Personal choices in adopting the role of lawyer and the impact of those choices on society and the structure of the legal profession are also explored.

Race, Culture and Law: Law 544 V(2) *

United States cases and legal theory emphasizing law in the social construction of racial categories, shifts in race-based anti-discrimination law, and the interaction of culture and law in judicial decision-making.

Real Estate Development and Financing: Law 583 V(3)

The course includes an examination and analysis of various federal and state laws the attorney will have to understand and apply in the practice of real estate development and financing law. Emphasis is placed on the condominium, securities, subdivision, consumer protection, and mortgage areas. The course stresses both practice and theory, and students are expected both to study and draft leases, condominium documents, sales contracts, and mortgages. The increasingly important role of the attorney in the ever-expanding complexities of the development process is examined, and the expanded liabilities and ethical obligations imposed by the attorney's role are discussed and analyzed in depth. Pre: Real Property Law II (Law 519) and Land Use Management (Law 580) or instructor's consent.

Real Property Law I: Law 518 V(4)

This course is the foundation of all further study relating to land, its ownership, development, and regulation. As such, emphasis is on the theory underlying concepts of property and tenure. While elements of personal property are summarized, emphasis is on real property. Subjects covered include estates in land, future interests, concurrent ownership, eminent domain, covenants, easements, licenses, public land use controls, air rights, water rights, and adverse possession.

Real Property Law II: Law 519 (3)

This course examines the contract of sale, equitable conversion, and the deed. Aspects of real estate transactions which are unique to Hawai'i are also studied. To the extent that time permits, more advanced subjects, such as public land use control measures and private real estate development, are introduced. Pre: Real Property Law I (Law 518).

Remedies: Law 539 (3) *

This course offers economic, theoretical and practical approaches to the study of remedies. Topics include compensatory damages, injunctions, the relationship between legal and equitable remedies, specific performance, declaratory judgments, restitution and unjust enrichment, punitive remedies, and ancillary remedies to enforce judgments. The course also addresses the extent to which the economic theory of law and notions of corrective justice justify the choice and extent of the remedy. Reference is made to Hawai'i law, but the principles discussed have general application.

Sales: Law 569 V(3)

Building upon the foundation established in Contracts I and II, this course provides an in-depth study of the law governing domestic sales of goods under Article 2 of the Uniform Commercial Code including: warranties; manner, time, and place of performance; buyers' and sellers' remedies for breach; and limitations on the freedom of contract. Pre: Secured Transactions (Law 554).

Second-Year Seminar: Law 530 (4)

All students are required to take a Law 530 seminar for which they must write a substantial paper of publishable quality. This seminar is taken during the spring semester of a student's second year. Seminar offerings will be announced early in the fall for the spring semester. Seminar placement is by lottery. Prior topics have included Torts, Environmental Law, Property, Jurisprudence, Antitrust, Intellectual Property, Legal History, Constitutional Law, and Native Hawaiian Rights.

Secured Transactions: Law 554 V(1–3)

This course is about getting paid. Lenders may reduce the risk of non-payment by obtaining an interest in the borrowers' property as collateral to secure repayment. The course introduces students to the Uniform Commercial Code and examines the creation, perfection, priority, and enforcement of security interests in personal property under UCC Article 9.

State and Local Government Law: Law 574 (3) *

The purpose of the course is to survey and analyze the organization, powers, and duties of state and local governments, their interaction, and how they fit within the increasingly pervasive federal system. We will particularly emphasize finances, home rule, state and local antitrust liability, development agreements, impact fees, tax increment and other debt financing (including state and municipal bonds), the rapidly expanding liabilities of county government under Section 1983 of the Civil Rights Act, executive privilege, and the limits to federal authority over state and local functions (the “Federalism” question). Cases, statutes, ordinances, and explanatory articles form the basis of the course. While we cover those aspects of state, local, and federal relations which have particular relevance to Hawai'i, the course will also touch upon certain aspects of those relations which are common elsewhere in the federal system. Control of activities of one level of government by others, both directly and indirectly by means of inducements, is a common theme.

Topics in Environmental Law: Law 527 V(3) *

This course is designed as an entry-level environmental law course. Rather than cover the breadth of environmental law, the course focuses more narrowly on specific topic areas which will vary from year to year, depending upon current developments and issues in environmental law in Hawai'i and nationwide. Topics in the past have included Hawai'i environmental law, environmental law and the military, wildlife law, and toxic waste issues.

Topics in International Legal Studies: Law 575 (V) *

Selected topics presented by faculty members or visiting scholars, focusing upon subjects in the Pacific and Asian area. (C) China; (J) Japan; (K) Korea; (P) Pacific; (S) Southeast Asia.

Torts I: Law 522 (2)

An introduction to the law and policy of common law civil actions for personal injury, with emphasis on the process and social values that guide the application of tort law and policy. The first semester of this course focuses primarily on the development of the doctrines of intentional torts, causation, and negligence.

Torts II: Law 523 (3)

A continuation of Torts I (LAW 522), this course further examines modern tort law and policy developments in areas such as causation, emotional distress, as well as traditional doctrines of damages, defenses, survival/wrongful death, trespass, nuisance, and strict liability. Additional emphasis is placed on Hawai'i case law and statutes. Other topics may include introductions to advanced areas such as alternative compensation schemes, insurance, products liability, defamation, and privacy.

Trial Practice: Law 563 (2)

With the assistance of members of the Hawai'i trial bar, students examine sequential stages of pretrial and trial practice in a problem setting. Topics include investigation, pleadings, motions, discovery, voir dire examination, opening statements, direct and cross examination, closing argument, selected evidentiary problems, post-trial motions, and appellate practice. Students engage in simulated exercises and their work is critiqued. The course is graded on a credit/no credit basis. Pre: Evidence (Law 543).

U.S.-Japan Business Transactions: Law 577 V(2)

This course will primarily focus on developing an understanding of the legal environment facing foreign businesses operating in Japan. Our studies will include consideration of the business environment and culture, issues relating to governmental oversight, contract consciousness, corporate law, and dispute resolution. In part, we will use the example of an actual joint venture between an American and a Japanese company as a tool for studying the relevant issues from a practical perspective.

Wildlife and Natural Resources Law: Law 503 V(1-3) *

Hawai'i's wildlife are among the most endangered in the world. By exploring the compelling stories of Hawai'i's imperiled ecosystems, this seminar provides a unique lens through which to view the pressing national and global legal and policy issues related to species preservation and resource conservation and management. The course examines the federal, state and local legal scheme that governs use and protection of resources, from the endangered humpback whale to energy planning.

Wills and Trusts: Law 552 (4)

The course deals primarily with the disposition of family wealth including: the making of wills; the creation, enforcement, administration, and termination of trusts; and intestate succession, including probate. Attention is focused on Hawai'i practice and procedure, and particularly on practice under the Uniform Probate Code.

WORKSHOPS AND CLINICS

Defense Clinic: Law 590C V(3)

Under Hawai'i Supreme Court Rule 7, students are permitted to try real cases in Hawai'i's courts. After classroom discussions and simulations, students defend traffic and misdemeanor cases through the Public Defender's office. Although the real cases are criminal in nature, the classroom component is designed to meet the needs of students considering civil litigation. Students try simulated cases at the law school, where they are videotaped and critiqued by the faculty and practicing lawyers. Pre: Evidence (Law 543).

Estate Planning Workshop: Law 590G V(3)

In this workshop students are expected to devise estate plans for hypothetical clients involving wills, revocable and irrevocable trusts, insurance, class transfers, charitable gifts, powers of appointment, and various forms of investment. Students study the impact of federal income taxes and federal estate and gift taxes, as well as Hawai'i taxes and the law of property, on such estate plans. Pre: Wills and Trusts (Law 552), Federal Income Taxation (Law 567), or instructor's consent.

Family Law Clinic: Law 590J V(3)

Students in this clinic work under the direct supervision of a family law specialist providing legal services to actual clients. Pre or concurrent: Family Law (Law 568) or instructor's consent.

Legal Aid Clinic: Law 590H V(3)

The Legal Aid Clinic, a partnership between the Legal Aid Society of Hawai'i and the law school, provide students with a supervised hands-on experience in serving the legal needs of Hawai'i's poor. Activities will include staffing a statewide hotline, assisting in neighborhood clinic activities and representing clients in housing, family law, consumer law and welfare law cases.

Mediation Clinic: Law 590M V(2)

Students in this clinic receive training and direct experience in the mediation of community disputes as well as knowledge about mediation and alternative dispute resolution techniques.

Native Hawaiian Rights Clinic: Law 590I V(3)

Students in this clinic work under the direct supervision of a Native Hawaiian Rights specialist providing legal services to actual clients.

Prosecution Clinic: Law 590B V(4)

Under Hawai'i Supreme Court Rule 7, students are permitted to try real cases in Hawai'i's courts. After classroom discussions and simulations, students prosecute actual traffic and misdemeanor cases through the Prosecuting Attorney's Office. Although the real cases are criminal in nature, the classroom component is designed to meet the needs of students considering civil litigation. Students try simulated civil and criminal cases at the law school, where they are videotaped and critiqued by the faculty and practicing lawyers. Pre: Evidence (Law 543).

NOTICE TO STUDENTS REGARDING PRIVACY RIGHTS

Pursuant to Section 99.6 of the rules and regulations governing the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (hereinafter the Act), students in attendance at the campuses of the University of Hawai'i are hereby notified of the following:

1. It is the administrative policy of the University of Hawai'i to subscribe to the requirements of Section 438 of the General Education Provision Act, Title IV, of Public Law 90-247, as amended, and to the rules and regulations governing the Act, which protect the privacy rights of students.
2. The rights of students under the Act include the following, subject to conditions and limitations specified in the Act:
 - (a) The right to inspect and review education records.
 - (b) The right to request to amend education records.
 - (c) The right of protection from disclosure by the University of Hawai'i of personally identifiable information contained in education records without permission of the student involved.
 - (d) The right to waive certain rights under the Act.
 - (e) The right to file complaints concerning alleged failure by the University of Hawai'i to comply with the Act.
3. Students are advised that institutional policy and procedures required under the Act have been published as Administrative Procedure A7.022, Procedures Relating to Protection of the Educational Rights and Privacy of Students. Copies of APA7.022 may be obtained from the Office of the Dean of Students.
4. Directory Information
Students are advised that certain personally identifiable information is considered by the university to be directory information and, in response to public inquiry, may be disclosed in conformance with state law, at the university's discretion, without prior consent of the student unless the student requests that the university not disclose such information.
 - (a) Name of student.
 - (b) Local address and zip code maintained in the campus locator printout.
 - (c) Local telephone number maintained in the campus locator printout.
 - (d) Major field of study.
 - (e) Education level (e.g., freshman, sophomore, etc.)
 - (f) Fact of participation in officially recognized activities and sports.
 - (g) Weight and height of members of athletic teams.

APPLICATION PRIVACY RIGHTS

Applicants are advised that the Office of Information Practices of the State of Hawai'i Attorney General's Office has ascertained that applicants have a personal privacy interest in making application to the University of Hawai'i. Thus, no information regarding the nature or status of an application will be given to anyone other than the applicant. This ruling extends to applicants' parents, spouses, children and other relatives.

If an applicant would like the School of Law to communicate with anyone regarding the existence or state of an application, the applicant must so advise the School of Law in writing beforehand.

- (h) Dates of attendance.
 - (i) Most recent educational institution attended.
 - (j) Degrees and awards received.
A student has the right to request that any or all of the above items not be designated directory information with respect to that student. Should a student wish to exercise this right, he or she must in person and in writing, not earlier than the first day of instruction nor later than fourteen calendar days from the first day of instruction for the academic term or semester, or the fourth day of a summer session, inform the campus registrar which of the above items are not to be disclosed without the prior consent of that student.
5. A parent or spouse of a student is advised that information contained in educational records, except as may be determined to be directory information, will not be disclosed to him/her without the prior written consent of the son, daughter or spouse.

COMPLIANCE WITH FEDERAL LEGISLATION REGARDING THE USE OF SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS

Section 7(b) of the Privacy Act of 1974 (5U.S.C. 522a) requires that when any Federal, State or local government agency requests an individual to disclose his or her social security account number, that individual must also be advised whether the disclosure is mandatory or voluntary, by what statutory or other authority the number is solicited, and what uses will be made of it.

Accordingly, each applicant is advised that disclosure of his or her social security account number (SSAN) is required as a condition for making application to any of the campuses of the University of Hawai'i, in view of the practical administrative difficulties which the University of Hawai'i would encounter in maintaining adequate student records without the continued use of the SSAN.

The SSAN will be used to verify the identity of the applicant, and as a student identification number throughout the period in which the applicant is enrolled, or otherwise associated with the University, in order to record data accurately. As a student identification number, the SSAN is used in such activities as: reconciliation of documents in order to determine eligibility for admission and residency for tuition purposes; registration and academic record-keeping; use of library materials; student affairs programs requiring verification of enrollment for the purpose of providing services, and alumni affairs.

Authority for requiring the disclosure of the applicant's SSAN is grounded in Section 304.2 and Section 304.4, Hawai'i Revised Statutes, as amended, which provides that the Board of Regents of the University of Hawai'i shall have general management and control of the affairs of the University. The University of Hawai'i has, for several years, consistently required the disclosure of SSAN on the admissions application forms and other necessary University documents.

In addition, it should be noted that the SSAN of a parent, guardian or spouse, of an applicant is also requested if the applicant claims residency on the basis of the residency of the parent, guardian, or spouse.

A parent, guardian, or spouse is advised that disclosure of his or her SSAN for the above purpose is mandatory. Failure to provide it may affect the applicant's admission to the University and the tuition charged the applicant when such applicant registers for classes. Parent's, guardian's or spouse's SSAN will be recorded only on the Residency Declaration itself and will not be maintained in any other system of records. Its use will be restricted to further verification of information reported on the Residency Declaration by the applicant and/or parent, guardian, or spouse.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AND AFFIRMATIVE ACTION POLICY

The University of Hawai'i is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution and is committed to a policy of nondiscrimination on the basis of race, sex, age, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, disability, marital status, arrest and court record, sexual orientation, and veteran status. This policy covers admission and access to, participation, treatment and employment in, the University's programs, activities and services. With regard to employment, the University is committed to equal opportunity in all personnel actions such as recruitment, hiring, promotion, and compensation. Sexual harassment is expressly prohibited under University policy.

The University strives to promote full realization of equal opportunity through a positive, continuing program on each campus in compliance with the affirmative action in employment mandates of federal Executive Order 11246. The program includes measuring performance against specific annual goals, monitoring progress, and reporting on good faith efforts and results in annual affirmative action plan reports. As a government contractor, the University is committed to an affirmative policy of hiring and advancing in employment qualified persons with disabilities, disabled veterans, and veterans of Vietnam era.
